MEETING OF ALDERMEN

Committee Appointed to Consider Reduction of Street Railway Fares

A brief and comparatively uninteresting session of the aldermen was held Monday evening, with President Blakemore in the chair, and Aldermen Demis, Early, Hatch and Pratt absent.

No one appeared at hearing on petition of Mrs. Angle B. Armstrong to keep gasoline at 69 Hammond street, and it was granted.

No one appeared at hearings on Edison Light poles on Page Road or on making land for sewer in Smith avenue.

The petition of the Edison Co. for poles on Columbus street was favored by Mr. Gould of that company, and was approved by Mr. H. H. Cummings, who was the applicant for service, and who said that he applied without knowing that his petition required additional poles. He believed he could be supplied with light without such poles. Mr. M. M. Griswold also opposed the poles.

Mr. E. A. Robinson spoke in favor of sewers in Ardmore road and Ardmore terrace, saying he proposed to build eleven new houses there this summer and the land was not suited for cesspools.

Alderman Murphy drew the names of Herbert E. Locke, Newton Upper Falls, and Frank M. Harrison, Auburn, for jurors at Cambridge from June 9th.

Mayor Hatfield sent in papers from the city treasurer and city solicitor relative to reimbursing the B. & W. St. Railway Co. with $248.10 from the city clerk relative to appropriations for elections, permission from the City of Waltham to lay a sewer to reach Adams avenue, a copy of the recent act to allow an additional water supply, request of the new comptroller of accounts for $550.35 for new furniture, and granting pensions to Thomas Vigor, $12.71, and Patrick Madden, $3.63.

A committee of Charles Ward Post, A. R., asked for a larger pension to be paid to Michael Cannon, and resolutions protesting against the sending of Newton policemen to the Milford strike were presented by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Petitions were received from Mrs. C. Schroot relative to claim for death of cows, from Joseph L. O'Brien for common victualer license, H. Ulyner for dragon license, E. W. Brigham et al for draining swamp near Ballard street, telephone Co. for attachments on Commonwealth avenue, Edison Co. for attachments on Page road, T. J. Jones to relocate pole on Auburn street, Abbie L. Anderson for Soldier's relief, Harry Statland to sell second and articles, A. H. Ramsay for sewer Walnut street, Nonantum Improvement Association for improvement in laundry Brook and of the Gas Light Co. to open certain streets.

On recommendation of committees have to withdraw was granted William Bailey and Thomas DISIMONE liquor transportation permits, Mrs. H. Meekins for intelligence, office license, on petition for street sprinkling on Clinton place, on claim of Mrs. Schroot for death of cows and on change of ward lines between wards 4 and 5. Reports granting common victualer licenses to Sam Najjar and

M. Pavlidis and recommending betterment assessments on Los Angeles and Allison streets, were recommended. A minor's license was granted Thomas J. Hand, poles on Norwood avenue and Prospect street, conduits on Homer street, Lakeview avenue and Commonwealth avenue, attachments on Bowers street and permit to remove poles from Saxon terrace were granted the Edison Co., attachments on Jackson road, Hampshire road, Barnstable street, Lake avenue and Woodward street, and a relocation on Watertown street were granted the Telephone Co., street sprinkling was ordered on Woodman road, Kenrick street and Churchill street, sewers were ordered laid in Camden road, Beacon street, hearings ordered June 18 on sewers in Cushing street and Elmore street, $3519 authorized for purchase of sewer materials, $100 additional land damages awarded Rose Leehan on Washington street, a grant made for city expenses to June 15th, $6.00 a month Soldiers' Relief granted Lucy T. Sangster, and transfers made to City Teams account.

Alderman Alley explained the report of the committee that order to lease playground on Church street ought not to pass, saying that the lot was so small and surrounded by houses that the committee were unanimous, and the order was rejected. Alderman Murphy explained the ordinance repealing the ordinance relative to compensation to be paid clerks and superintendents and City Solicitor Slocum said that the present ordinance conflicted with the provisions of the city charter, and the ordinance was then adopted.

A proposed change in the regulations governing junk collectors was brought up, Alderman Cox asking for immediate action. This was opposed by Alderman Murphy and others and action, postponed until the next meeting.

Alderman Blanchard created some mild excitement by asking for the appointment of a select committee of three to confer with the officials of the M. & B. St. Railway Co. in an effort to reduce fares on the cross-town lines from 6 to 5 cents. Alderman Richardson queried as to the powers of this committee and hinted that he wanted better service as well as the lower rate of fare.

Alderman Cox, speaking as a "citizen," and not as general manager of the street railway company, said that the city government has no power to regulate fares, that being wholly within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission. The matter of fare is simply one of finances, and when the company can afford to reduce the fare to five cents it will be pleased to do so. In Mr. Cox's opinion that time was a great many years off, and he predicted an increase rather than a decrease in the unit of fare. Alderman Blanchard said that Ward 2 was a special sufferer from the 6 cent fare, and this order was introduced to see if a conference wouldn't help matters. The order was then adopted. Aldermen Blanchard, Sullivan and Murphy being later appointed on the committee.

The board adjourned at 8.55 P. M.

POP CONCERT

Society Event in Aid of West Newton Day Nursery

"Rockledge," the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Day on Chestnut street, West Newton, presented a scene of splendor Tuesday evening on the occasion of the third annual pop concert in aid of the W. N. Day Nursery.

The Dartmouth and Prince street corner of the spacious grounds was brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and Japanese lanterns and 100 tables were arranged in a large tent, where refreshments were served, an extra small tent being provided for the service.

The tables were tastefully decorated with flowers and each table was numbered. Sixty of the young society girls of the Newtons acted as servers; they were attractively gowned in white, each one with a blue ribbon band on her sleeve on which was printed the number of her table.

The Waltham Watch Factory Band was in attendance and furnished an excellent program of music. The musicians were placed at the entrance of the tent in a small enclosure banked with iris and garden flowers.

Guests prominent in social life, numbering more than 500, were present, and the success of the concert was very gratifying to the ladies in charge, the sum realized far exceeding their expectations.

The proceeds will go toward a necessary addition to the Nursery, in enlarging the kitchen club room and class room, and making a basement laundry, to meet increasing demands.

The committee, to whose efforts the success of the concert was largely due, was under the chairmanship of Mrs. James A. Neal and included Mrs. Harry L. Burrage, refreshments; Mrs. Francis Newhall, waitresses and serving; Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, sale of tables and advertising; Mrs. C. S. Cook, Jr., decorations.

The flower and candy tables were in charge of Miss Mary Robbins, assisted by the Misses Eleanor Frost, Jeanne Pushee, Margaret Baldwin, and Katherine Ames. The ushers were Mr. Lawrence S. Mayo, Jr., A. Stuart Pratt, Jr., Lucius G. Pratt, John Avery, Jr., Ellery Peabody, Jr., and Henry Robbins.

LOSES LEAGUE GAME

Newton High Beaten By Cambridge Latin

Cambridge High and Latin visited Newton last Tuesday afternoon and in the first game in the Triangular League romped away the winner, 3 to 2. Errors by the Newton players, and a very poor specimen of base running gave the victory to the visitors. Cambridge scored its winning run in the eighth when with a man on second, McNamara's single got lost in the long grass of left field, and a man came all the way home from second.

Newton High started off in whirlwind fashion, O'Neill clouting the third ball pitched for a double to left center. Bryson popped to Sandford, and Conlon's single sent O'Neill home with the first run. Hyatt was thrown out at first, Conlon making third on the out. Spalding scored Conlon with a single, and in the attempt to nail Conlon at home, took second. Terrio replaced Spalding as his runner, and in attempting to steal third, was easily thrown out.

In six of the remaining eight innings Newton was retired in order, but it looked for a time that one or more runs would be scored in the seventh and ninth. In the seventh Conlon was safe, when the catcher did not stop to pick up the ball, claiming that the batter was hit by it. The umpire did not see the play, and allowed the batter to take his base. Hyatt came across with a single, and Spalding's infield tap forced Conlon at third. Taffe took two healthy swings at the ball, but on the third attempt knocked up a high foul near the backstop, which was caught after a hard chase. Dunmore ended the inning by being thrown out at first.

With the score standing 3 to 2, Newton came to bat in the ninth, Bryson the first man up hitting the ball to right field, it going through the legs of the fielder, and he made two bases on the error. Conlon's infield hit to short caught Bryson at third. Hyatt's free pass put Conlon on third, who in some unknown manner got the signals twisted and started to steal third, but the beautiful throw from Dee caught him by several feet. Spalding closed the game by flying out to left.

Siebert pitched a grand game for the visitors, allowing the Newton players but five hits, issued one free pass, and striking out three men. The support given him was nothing short of sensational. Dee, Sands, Sandford and Thomas contributing several difficult stops and catches. Errors figured in each run scored by the Cambridge boys, but when once on base showed good judgment.

Coach Dickinson sent in Harris, Higgins and White during the last two innings, so that they might win their letter.

The High School and Alumni will meet tomorrow afternoon on Claffin Field.

MEMORIAL DAY

Unusually Interesting Exercises By Charles Ward Post, 62, G. A. R.

Last Friday was as perfect a Memorial Day as one could wish, the weather was most delightful, and the exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic were as interesting as one can remember.

During the morning, details of Charles Ward Post decorated the graves of their comrades in the various cemeteries, both within and without the city, the principal ceremony being at the cemetery connected with St. Mary's Church at Newton Lower Falls. Senior Vice Commander William H. Partridge was in charge and Rev. A. C. Jones made a short address. Following the exercises at the cemetery, the Post marched to the banks of the Charles River nearby, where the beautiful service of casting flowers on the water in memory of the sailor dead, was impressively performed.

The principal ceremonies took place at Newton Centre, where the veterans gathered at noon, with torches in the Engine House. At one o'clock the various organizations reported to Col. Winthrop M. Merrill, chief of staff at the junction of Willow and Centre streets. At 1.30 promptly, the procession started, being reviewed by Mayor Hatfield and the city government on Centre street, near the post office, and marching thru Centre, Beacon, and Walnut streets to the Newton Cemetery. An unusual and most interesting feature of the parade was a caravan full of children from the parochial school, each child wearing the red, white and blue. The children, under the direction of Mr. Ryan, who played a piano, placed in the caravan, sang patriotic songs as the procession moved along the streets, most appropriately singing America, when they passed the former residence of Rev. S. F. Smith on Centre street, Newton Centre.

The parade moved in the following order:

Detail of police.
Chief Marshal Wilfred A. Wetherbee.
Chief of Staff, Col. Robert Ball Edes.
Aides, Col. A. C. Warren, Major Robert E. Green, Major Fred P. Barnes, Lieut. E. E. Davidson, Lieut. Chas. S. Dole, Lieut. Wm. H. Wilson, George M. Fliske, Post 62, G. A. R., Henry J. McCammon, U. S. W. V., James H. Wentworth, S. of V. Co. C. 5th Regiment M. V. M., Lieut. Philip B. Bruce, commanding.
J. Wiley Edmonds Camp, Sons of Veterans, Albert E. Dubois, commanding.
Charles Ward Post, 62, G. A. R., Joseph O. Perkins, Commander, Thomas Burnett Camp Spanish War Veterans, Philip Butler, commanding.
Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, Daughters of Veterans' Leonora Kern, president.
Barge of school children, City government.

While a number of the veterans marched the entire route, there were three large automobile passenger vans, generously donated by the Stanley Brothers, well filled with members of the Post who did not care to march. The usual exercises were held at the Soldiers' monument at the Newton Cemetery, one of the first Soldiers' monuments ever erected in the country. Commander Joseph O. Perkins was in charge and the program included:

Colonel Merrill, the Adjutant General, said that we often hear many persons decry the praise given military achievements. This, in his opinion, was only envy. The ability which dares to do and is absorbed in its purposes deserves our heartfelt gratitude.

Major Robert A. Green of the Chief Marshal's staff, said he was the son of a Confederate soldier, but he was glad to mingle with the Grand Army Veterans, for he realized that they fought on the right side.

Lieutenant Philip H. Bruce, of Co. C, 5th Regiment, said that the current impression that the Claffin Guard was running down hill was erroneous.

The size of the crowd both at Newton Centre and at the Cemetery was noticeably smaller than in previous years.

The annual dinner was served in Temple Hall, the Post having Mayor Hatfield and members of the city government, the Chief Marshal and staff, Co. C, 5th Regiment, Spanish War Veterans, the Sons and Daughters of Veterans as their guests. Commander Joseph O. Perkins presided and acted as toastmaster. In opening the post prandial exercises, Commander Perkins said that the Grand Army of the Republic, founded in 1868, reached its high tide in 1890, when it had 409,000 members. Since then it has steadily gone down hill, and now musters but 191,000. The toastmaster caused some little merriment in introducing Mayor Hatfield, by alluding to the City Hall as the "City Hospital."

Mayor Hatfield stated that this was the last Memorial Day he should be with the Post as Mayor, but said his heart would still be with them in their Memorial Days in the future, as he believed that the heroism and devotion of such men in 1861 ought not to pass unnoticed. He would show to the younger generation that belief in the work you have begun, so that that work will not have been in vain. He praised the idea of having the children in the parade, as it was an inspiring and encouraging sight, and would strengthen their love for the G. A. R.

Chief Marshal Wetherbee said that these Memorial Days are a source of sadness as we realize that the boys are going over the river, and we miss several faces today who were with us last year. And yet, Memorial Day is a day of gladness, in that we rejoice that we have lived to enjoy the fruits of our labors during the days of the Civil War. The G. A. R. has been foremost in patriotic work, and we have placed this country in the vanguard of the world, so that it stands for more than any other country. No red or black flag can wave hereafter in Massachusetts, and it is but the beginning of the end of the I. W. W. for dallying with such men only encourages them to go on. We welcome immigrants, but they must obey American institutions, and respect the American flag.

Comrade George M. Fliske then rendered the "High Tide at Gettysburg" in a most dramatic and thrilling manner.

Colonel Merrill, the Adjutant General, said that we often hear many persons decry the praise given military achievements. This, in his opinion, was only envy. The ability which dares to do and is absorbed in its purposes deserves our heartfelt gratitude.

Major Robert A. Green of the Chief Marshal's staff, said he was the son of a Confederate soldier, but he was glad to mingle with the Grand Army Veterans, for he realized that they fought on the right side.

Lieutenant Philip H. Bruce, of Co. C, 5th Regiment, said that the current impression that the Claffin Guard was running down hill was erroneous.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MASSACHUSETTS STATE FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS.

On Wednesday, May 28, the second time within a week, the auditorium of the South Congregational Church, Boston, was filled to overflowing for the annual meeting of a women's organization, this time for the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The session was called to order by the president, Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, who presented Mrs. May Alden Ward, president of the New England Women's Club, the hostess of the occasion. Mrs. Ward gracefully welcomed her guests, and Mrs. Mulligan in her response referred in fitting words to the great man who had occupied that pulpit for so many years.

Then followed the reports of the officers. The treasurer announced that the former Bazaar Fund had been done away, and in its place a Permanent Fund amounting to $4,500 has been created, from which only the interest can be used. The convention ratified the action of the Executive Board in creating this Permanent Fund.

The special committees, Badge, Meetings, Press, Endowment and Settlement Work, presented their reports. At the time of reporting the chairman of Endowment had received $5,448.80, a little more than half the amount apportioned to Massachusetts, and one-sixth of all that has been contributed. A suggestion from the floor resulted in $200 being added, a large part of it coming from individual pledges of $1. A report of the council meeting given by Mrs. George W. Perkins, and of the American Peace Congress by Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, concluded the morning session.

At two o'clock the delegates reassembled and the reports of the departments of work were begun. Mrs. John T. Tabor speaking for Civil Service Reform, Mrs. Clarence W. Clark for the Industrial and Social Conditions, and Miss Maud Folts for Civics.

A delightful musical program given by Miss Assunta Michell, soprano; Mr. Louis Schalk, baritone, and Miss Gladys Alma Cooper, accompanist, made a pleasing introduction to the twenty-first anniversary exercises. Mrs. May Alden Ward spoke upon "The Beginnings of the Federation." In a happy way she referred to Dr. Holmes's statement that if you are to understand a person you must begin with his ancestors, and proceeded to trace the Federation back to its ancestor, the New England Women's Club, which was organized forty-five years ago and was the first to adopt the name "Club." At its twenty-fifth anniversary came the suggestion to bring together the clubs of the State to form a union. In January, 1893, twenty-two clubs formed the Union of Women's Clubs. At the first annual meeting the name was changed to Federation. In a graceful tribute to the memory of Julia Ward Howe, the speaker said that Mrs. Howe put much thought and the best of herself into these early years and that the Federation owes a debt of gratitude to those who sowed the seed.

Miss O. M. E. Rowe, another former president, spoke of the "Early Federation Ideals," tracing the growth from the study of literature, history and art to the great social service organization which it is today. Among the things instituted during her administration were the social service committee, the work for education, stamp savings, arts and crafts, the New England Conference of 1901, the Civil Service Reform committee, a Federation Song Book, and the Presidents' Conference. "I congratulate you on the past, but I congratulate you more on the future. The future is mine."

Miss Helen A. Whittier's subject was "Twenty Years of Retrospect." She traced the journey of the federation at first on the stage-coach, "but now on the Twentieth Century Flyer—always with the same aspiration 'to hitch our wagon to a star.'"

"When a mountain has loomed in our way, we have industriously tunneled it, or triumphantly scaled it, or skillfully side-stepped around it. The journey has been pleasant, cheered by dear friendships, by social festivities, by enticing vistas of widening sympathy; it has been inspiring, opening before us broad views of possible human betterment, and illuminating visions of the beneficent power of united and consecrated endeavor."

After tracing the growth of the federation and touching upon some of the important events in its history, she closed with the following reference to Julia Ward Howe:

"At the International Peace Congress held in this city in 1904, Julia Ward Howe gave the history of her early pioneer efforts to arouse the women of the world to work for peace. She told how she went to England to preach a Peace Crusade, and how in those years, just after the Franco-Prussian War, she found that she was but a voice crying in the wilderness; that nowhere were women accustomed to independent thought and effort; that they lacked the power of deliberating and acting in common. So in the years that followed, Mrs. Howe devoted herself to the interests of the higher education, to equal suffrage, and to the promotion of national associations among women, recognizing that these must be the practical stepping stones to the high ends that she had in view."

"When in her ninetieth year, she stood in Symphony Hall to receive the loving homage of thousands of Biennial Delegates, she expressed her happiness in greeting that vast army of women, armed only with justice and patriotism, intent only upon promoting the public welfare, the common good."

"That occasion may well have seemed to her the fulfillment of many of her dreams; it may well have been the inspirer of that vision of the future which came to her in the night watches; that vision of a new era in which men and women were battling equally, unitedly, for the uplift of the race, that vision of a new light, the glory of which was beyond human word—the light of the new-born hope and sympathy blazing; that vision of the men and women, standing side by side, shoulder to shoulder, a common, lofty, and indomitable purpose lighting every face with a glory not of this world, all advancing with one purpose in view, one everlasting good to gain; that vision of a new light, with evil gone from the earth, with mankind emancipated and marching forward in a new era of all-encompassing sympathy."

"Could our beloved founder have been present in Tremont Temple last February, when at the call of her own federation, led by her latest successor, a mass meeting of men and women together held up the standard of International Peace, she might well have felt that her latest vision was coming true, that the new era was approaching, and that again her eyes had seen the coming of the glory of the Lord."

"In this new decade of our Federation life, let us be not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."

Miss Bacon was greeted with continued applause when she rose to take "A Look into the Future." She said that if only she had the vision of a seer and the imagination of early youth, her task would be light. The Federation is all a stage and the officers and committees merely players. There are five acts, first, the infant; second, the growing child; third, the youth, hoping against hope; fourth, the soldier, and fifth, where justice is done. She looked forward to the time when each individual will contribute in full measure, will work untiringly and unceasingly; when there will be a club in every city and town; when women will not be willing to sacrifice their womanhood; when no man will be content to live by the sweat of another's brow. Our work will be more intense. Among the requisites will be conscientiousness, self-restraint, a willingness to lead a strenuous life, responsibility, hard work, the power to think aright, co-operation, leadership and tact.

On Wednesday evening in spite of the storm the church was filled to welcome the president of the General Federation, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybaker. Her subject was, "Some Dangers to the American Home." Mrs. Pennybaker is a born orator and held her audience with closest attention.

"I have only one charge to bring against the most agreeable being, the American gentleman," said Mrs. Pennybaker. "It is the absence of father as an active and potent force in adding the development of character in his children. It is true that many a man must toil unceasingly to win a livelihood for those whom he loves; and he gives generously all that he has except himself and his time. More than one boy and more than one girl has made a false step because the father's intimate companionship and sympathy have not come at the right time. No one has ever gone astray for want of luxuries."

"In order for the home to do its best work, each period in the child's life must be given its full quota of girlhood or boyhood. I sometimes wonder whether America has not a lesson to learn from England and Germany in this matter. In those countries in the best families a girl is considered a child until she is 17 or 18 years old. She eats plain food; she wears sensible clothing. Are we not responsible for inculcating such taste in our children that they will realize that the fundamental of good dressing is appropriateness? Can't we make our little daughters feel that the page of girlhood is so fascinating that they will not be too eager to turn the leaf?"

"The day has come when we Americans must face a new issue. The high cost of living has changed living conditions. I firmly believe that much of the unhappiness in our homes comes from the question of money. What troubling are we giving our daughters in the earning power of a dollar? If the man would only make his wife his partner in his business affairs there would be a great change in many a family today. Our homes in America need more patriotism—not the kind that teaches a man to die on the battlefield, for America always has had, and always will have, I fear, that kind; but that higher patriotism that teaches both men and women to live aright for their country."

There was music by the Durrell Orchestra and songs by Miss Katherine Ricker before the address, and at the close a reception was tendered Mrs. Pennybaker in the parlors of the church.

Thursday's sessions were given up to the election of officers, reports from the Legislative, Public Health, Food Sanitation, Conservation, Home Economics, Education, Art, Music and Literature departments and the Bureau of Information. A recommendation from the morning committee that a change be made in the by-laws whereby hereafter the ballot may be sent out to each club with the call for the annual meeting, so that the clubs may know who have been nominated for officers. Greetings were received from Mrs. Eva Perry Moore, former General Federation President, and from numerous of the State Federations.

At the close of the morning Mrs. Pennybaker gave an eloquent appeal for the Endowment Fund, pointing out how small is the income of the General Federation, how great the need, and some of the things which the Federation is accomplishing. As a result of her talk additional contributions were made from the floor. A pledge of $500 came from Mrs. J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton. Many clubs promised to complete their full quota, and many new pledges were received. The final report from the chairman of Endowment gave the total as exceeding $7,000.

The following new clubs, which have joined the Federation this year, were presented: Half Century Club of Boston, Boston City Federation, Wareham Monday Club, Weymouth Current Events Club, Plymouth Woman's Club, Ex-Regents Club, Boston Parliamentary Law Club, Quincy Women's Riverside Club, Wollaston Woman's Club, Groton Woman's Club, Parliamentary Law Club of Newton, Holly Club of Wrentham, Arlington Heights Study Club, Menorah Club of Lynn, Social Science Club of Ware.

The committee on resolutions brought in resolutions of thanks to the hostess club, to retiring officers, to Mrs. Pennybaker, an endorsement of the needed change in height of street car steps, and an appeal to the club women to use their influence to arouse public sentiment against the present style of dress and create a demand for something which will combine beauty, utility and modesty. And that the club women use their influence in the subject of international peace by arranging for at least one address on peace and arbitration.

The election resulted as follows: President, Florence T. Perkins; vice-presidents, 1st, Lella C. Pennock; 2nd, Sara S. Gilson; 3rd, Ella C. R. Whitton; 4th, Claire H. Gurney; clerk, Belle R. Clark; assistant clerk, Jessie M. Fisher; corresponding secretary, Grace V. Hibbard; treasurer, Lena R. Wellington; directors, for three years, Sophie M. Friedman, Maud Wood Park, Grace M. Poole, Addie P. Webber, Carrie F. Wheeler; nominating committee, Mary D. Hawley, chairman; Esther L. Andrews, Mary H. Stone, Elizabeth Willgoose, Louise M. Wood.

At the close Mrs. Mulligan presented the new officers and with a final word from the retiring president, the convention adjourned.

ART DEPARTMENT

It is thirteen years since the State Federation added the aesthetic element to its program, and asked the consideration of the life problems which are chiefly dominated by the art impulse. The subject was modestly approached from the practical side of the so-called Arts and Crafts Movement, and was first presented to the Federation at a quarterly meeting held in Newburyport in 1900, and illustrated by an exhibition of Village Industries.

Since that time the Art Department has aimed to foster in the women's clubs a live, practical interest in Art, that may by diffusion help to raise the standards of beauty in every community, so that fitness and harmony—the essentials of good taste—may be the rule and not the exception in our streets and parks, our schoolrooms and public buildings, our homes and our railroads.

The Art Committee believes that such an interest is growing steadily, and regrets that this belief is only partially supported by the returns which club committees have made to the Department. Less than one-third of the clubs have been heard from, and of the seventy-three replying to the annual questions, eleven report nothing done this year.

Eighteen classes have held their meetings in Art Museums, generally under leadership, and twenty other clubs report frequent museum visits by their members. It is evident that the museum habit is growing, although only eight clubs report that they have subscribed $10 for a season ticket to the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston.

So far as can be gleaned from the reports, the study of the historical schools of painting is the favorite subject for lectures and classes, constituting one-third of the entire list. Other subjects, ranked by apparent popularity, are Architecture, Sculpture, Music, Art History, Travel, Arts and Crafts, Art in the Home, Poetry, the Drama, Aesthetic and Folk Dancing, and Pageantry.

The New England Women's Club reports perhaps the most striking thing that has been done, in the presentation to the Boston Art Museum of a beautiful marble bas-relief portrait of Julia Ward Howe, who was its beloved president for forty years. This permanent memorial, executed by the well known sculptor, Cyrus E. Dallin, has been finely reproduced in plaster for the walls of the club rooms.

Relations with the Library Art Club have been resumed by the Art Committee, after an interval in which the work was assigned to the Literature Department. Eighteen clubs have agreed to assist in interesting school children and townspeople generally in the exhibitions of photographs circulated by the Library Art Club. Next year it is hoped to secure good results in many towns.

The Art Department held its annual conference in the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston on Dec. 5, 1912.

Nine meetings of the Art Committee have been held, with earnest discussions as to the best way to bring the subject of Art before the clubs in a really vital manner, enabling them to see its relation to life, and to study it more understandingly. From these discussions a policy has been formulated for the guidance of next year's work, which will include three "Working Conferences," for Art Chairmen and those interested in class work. Outlines of study are in preparation which are intended to emphasize the function of Art as an expression of life, beginning with the Folk Art of primitive peoples and showing its development in Music, Poetry, the Dance, the Drama, and the Fine Arts. Other outlines will be devoted to the study and appreciation of the Fine Arts. These outlines will be discussed and amplified at the conferences, the first of which will be held in October.

The growth of interest in the study of originals in Art Museums is very encouraging, and the committee earnestly recommends that the clubs respond more fully to the generous hospitality of these splendid institutions, dedicated, as has been well said, to the nurture of the imagination. The clubs can happily co-operate with the Boston Art Museum by becoming annual subscribers. The payment of ten dollars ensures a season ticket admitting four persons at one time. The ticket may be kept on file at the Museum and members will be admitted by simply naming their club.

The Departments of Art, Music and Literature have a less tangible program of work to offer, a less concrete appeal to your energies than the other departments of the Federation. Art is a more elusive thing to demonstrate than the habits of the house fly; Music is not so immediately related to our bread and butter as is the question of food sanitation; Literature cannot compete with the Spanish veteran as a trumpet call to action.

Art, Music and Literature, more or less superficially treated, have furnished the stock subjects for club programs since the club world began. However judicious that may be, however useful such studies for the culture of the individual, in the Federation program they can claim small place unless they can prove their power to elevate the ideals of the community, unless they can show themselves to be vital forces in every day life.

Mrs. Decker used to whimsically reprove the clubs that preferred to study Dante, rather than Civil Service Reform, by saying, "But Dante is dead!" She made a telling point; perhaps it was needed. But Dante still survives—alive only by his great contemporaries, the Gothic Cathedral—as a living exponent of the wonderful Middle Ages, in which was nurtured the seed from which our modern life has sprung and flowered.

We must extract from these so-called culture studies the secret of true culture, that culture which as a great art critic has said, is "Knowledge applied to life and living." Under this definition, the study of the House Fly as well as of a painting becomes a factor in our culture, and the study of Home Economics becomes a factor in our everyday life.

But it is given to Art in all its phases to lift our thought to high levels and noble ideals—Ideals which will elevate and unify all our Federation work. "Where there is no vision the people perish."

So as the Music Department has asked us to study the development of music from the ancient folk songs that sprang from the hearts of the people—as the Literature Department has shown us how the literature of today in throbbing with today's life problem—as the Art Department hopes, by the study of Folk Art—the spontaneous product of primitive human nature—to bring out a clearer comprehension of the whole scope of Art, and with it a conviction that its underlying principles are the same foundations upon which the structure of our own lives and of our community life must be built.

DEPARTMENT OF LITERATURE AND LIBRARY EXTENSION

Massachusetts State Federation Women's Clubs.

The Committee of Literature and Library Extension decided at the beginning of the year to present a subject to the clubs that should in its statement connect literature with the many vital lines of work so effectively undertaken by the other committees. It also wished the subject to suggest that it was not our purpose to be either academic or aesthetic in the suggestions we should offer; and so the committee chose this phrase, "to relate the literature of our times to

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—One of the strongest and most varied all-star vaudeville bills of the season is announced for R. F. Keith's Theatre next week, including Sanderson Moffatt, the original "Weelum" of "Bunny Pulls the Strings," who will make his first vaudeville appearance on this side of the ocean in a one-act comedy of Scottish life, entitled "Fifteen Minutes of Matrimony." Another new feature will be the first vaudeville appearance of David Lythgoe, the Boston actor, and his players in a bit of musical comedy by John J. McNally. Still another novelty will be the first appearance in this country of Mykoff and Vanity, the Russian dancers, in their cycle of unique and remarkable dances of the nations. Conroy and Lemaire, the famous blackface comedians, will have a brand new talkfest fully as funny as their past efforts in this line; and other strong attractions of the week will be Ed. Morton, the man who sings "The Four Flourimonds," a great troupe of European novelty entertainers in an original specialty; Sam Lewis and Sam Dody, "The Two Sams," in a new act; Wentworth, Vesta and Teddy, featuring the world's most wonderful canine acrobat; Edison's Talking Motion Pictures with all new subjects, and many others yet to be announced.

BOSTON THEATRE.—For twenty-seven years "The Old Homestead" has been given year after year—and it is just as live as when Denman Thompson first brought it out. It is not necessary to have been brought up on a farm to appreciate "The Old Homestead." It isn't necessary to have been steeped in the lore and feeling of New England farm life (though most of us have), it isn't necessary to know what the stage conception of the farmer is. If you like fun, if you like good characterization, if you like to have things move right along, and most of all if you like to laugh—you will enjoy "The Old Homestead." Who is in the company? What matter. Eight of them have been with it for a total of 194 years. Denman Thompson? Yes, he's gone, but go and see Edward L. Snader in the part and see if you can tell the difference. Then there's Maggie Breyer, Aunt Milda. She's the "spittin' "

ENTERTAIN BEVERLY MAYOR

Mayor Herman A. MacDonald of Beverly and a committee of seven citizens appointed to investigate technical schools, visited Newton Wednesday as the guests of Mayor Charles E. Hatfield and inspected the modern technical plant at Newtonville. They arrived at Newtonville in time to be shown over the school by Mr. Irving O. Palmer, the head master. They saw exhibitions of shop work and the courses in the different departments but, perhaps, no greater impression was created than in the household economics department where six girl pupils had planned, purchased and prepared a tempting luncheon. The girls also served it.

Miss Flora E. Anderson, in charge of the department, superintended the work but had nothing to do with the actual preparation and serving of the meal beyond an occasional hint or word of advice. The pupils were Misses Phyllis Mills, Grace Weber, Jennie Burns, Mabel Hodges, Gladys Hartford and Constance Tenney. They furnished the visitors with an excellent idea of the thoroughness of the Newton course in household management.

AN EASY WIN

Newton High outclassed Brookline last Friday on Clinlin Field in an exhibition game, winning easily 19 to 0. A holiday crowd was out, many thinking that the Brookline aggregation was stronger this year than last, but when the numerous errors were made behind the Brookline pitcher, giving Newton a commanding lead, many of the crowd started for home.

Jack Conlon held the opposing players to six scattered hits. Newton did not hit as well as they have been doing of late, but eight hits being registered by them.

NATURE

Editor Newton Graphic:—
Dear Sir:—I venture to use the columns of the Graphic to call the attention of fellow readers and students to the fact that the periodical Nature, is now on file at the City Library Annex Reading Room at Newtonville. This is such a busy age of an always busy world, that no apology should be needed to remind us of the unique value of this English weekly scientific gazette. Huxley used to say that we should never have a genuine civilization in the world till we would have one which would be based on scientific culture, no matter whatever elements it might have of strength and beauty. Now Nature is the only weekly scientific periodical printed in English which is truly a representative of broad scientific culture, more's the pity. If our teachers, clergymen, lawyers, doctors and even our busy business men would "get the habit" of reading Nature regularly, it would become an indispensable pleasure and inspiration.

Then in the last issue, May 16, I note—in addition to much special technique, two articles of general interest, one on Active Nitrogen, by Strutt, and one by Fotheringham, giving April 7, A.D. 30, as the probable date of Christ's crucifixion. I am sure Sir that many intelligent readers will be grateful to the Graphic for the courtesy of this casual reminder. Very truly,
CHAS. S. PALMER.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Beginning June first, books may be taken from the Library with special summer privileges. All card holders are entitled to take as many books as they wish, excluding only the newest and most popular ones. All these books will be due October first, but may be returned before that time if desired. Many people have taken advantage of this privilege in past years and it is hoped that more will do so this year. The spring meeting of the Massachusetts Library Club was attended by Miss Thurston and two of the assistants. The Club was entertained by Williams College, at Williamstown, and had a very satisfactory meeting in spite of the dubious weather.

HISTORIC FLAG.

We noticed Memorial Day that the residence of Wm. M. Partridge on Pembroke street was decorated with a flag bearing only thirty-four stars. On inquiry our war veteran assures us that when Fort Sumpter was fired upon his father hung this flag to the breeze and since his father's decease has been in his possession and annually unfurled on Memorial Day and other patriotic occasions. The thirty-four States represented by those thirty-four stars were never allowed to secede from the Union, and have ever since increased to forty-eight States by the veterans of 61-65. Long may they live to enjoy the gratitude of the present generation.

EDITORIAL

The request of Mrs. D. C. Heath to be reimbursed for losses connected with the laying out of Lowell avenue, some sixteen years ago, is one which ought to be paid, cheerfully and promptly. The great improvement to Newtonville real estate in that vicinity, and the additional convenience to the travelling public in having another route towards the southern part of the city, are so important that the city can well afford to pay every expense connected with the improvement. To those of us who remember the narrow, crooked lane, known as Appleton street, with a disreputable looking and smelling livery stable on the site now occupied by the St. John's Church, and the row of cheap houses, which at one time, seemed to doom that locality from any real estate improvement, the change to the present situation is, indeed, marked. The work connected with this great change was largely, possibly, entirely due to the energy and enthusiasm of Mrs. Heath, who in the face of the greatest difficulties and discouragements, pushed the matter to a conclusion. The least the city can do, is to reimburse Mrs. Heath for any financial losses incurred in such a public improvement.

The action of the aldermen in recommending a favorable report on granting two additional common victuallers licenses in Nonantum square, should be commended, and the board should go further and refuse to grant all such licenses in the future. This class of license is intended to allow the holder the privilege of Sunday opening, and with something like fourteen places open on Sunday at the present time in Nonantum square, it is almost an insult to the people of the city to allow additional stores to offer their wares for sale on Sunday.

I have heard so many expressions of approval of the editorial last week on the cost of our school system, that I begin to believe that the situation is better understood than I had imagined. When our taxpayers awake from the present complacent view of the Newton schools, there will be some hope that better results will be accomplished with considerable less expense.

Some day, let us hope in the near future, Memorial Day will be observed on Sunday, when its sacred associations will not be marred by the circus, belligerent golf matches, and the veterans will not be surrounded by vendors of toy balloons, peanuts and pop corn.

The Memorial Day parade this year with its veterans grey and grizzled, and the children, happy and radiant, was a most inspiring sight.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The new committee on Municipal Finance has been having a high old time with the laws which govern municipalities during the present session, and strangely enough, it has been able to get away with the greater part of its recommendations. The committee either must have hypnotized the other members of the Legislature or the plan of its legislation much smoother than is the usual case for new business. I have referred before to the bill which defines the various kinds of municipal indebtedness, and some of the absurdities contained therein. This bill has been signed by the Governor, and in his judgment, will raise havoc with about every city in the Commonwealth about October, 1914. All three of our representatives have had service in our city government, and ought to have realized the seriousness of some of the restrictions which have become law under this bill. The same committee has also passed a bill so that the taxpayers will be unable to make payments on account of their taxes, after six months from the date of the tax bill. Just what good this limitation makes is hard to see, and the hardship it places on the poor man who pays his taxes on the installment plan, is noticeable. The committee has also changed the law affecting interest to be paid on taxes. All tax bills hereafter must be dated Oct. 15, and if paid by Nov. 1st do not carry interest. After November 1st interest runs from October 15th. Another little burden on the poor man. Great is the committee on Municipal Finance and great is its chairman, a resident of one of the small towns of the State, and of course, an authority on the way in which cities should be managed.

Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of the Newton schools, was nominated by Governor Foss on Wednesday as a member of the new immigration board of the Commonwealth.

Mr. White has been selected treasurer of the Republican Steering Committee of the House, which expects to take an active hand in electing a Republican Legislature next November. Governor Foss continues to send in vetoes, and the Legislature has recovered its sanity and has actually sustained him in one or two instances. Mr. White voted with the majority of the House in passing the bill to fix salaries of State House firemen over the veto. Mr. Bothfeld and Mr. Ellis voting with the Governor's supporters. Mr. Bothfeld was prominent in defeating the bill to reorganize the State Board of Health, which at first was favorably acted upon by the House. All three of our representatives voted against this bill, which has considerable merit, by the way, although, possibly it might not be the proper time to urge such legislation.

The Washburn Railroad bill seems almost sure of ultimate passage, having received thus far, splendid support in the Senate, which has refused all amendments thus far offered. The nine in eleven bill on the street railway employees is a matter of discussion, attempts to make it permissive instead of mandatory being said to be futile by the Boston Elevated Company, which will be the most serious affected.

Prorogation is predicted for June. J. C. Brimblecom.

LOCKE-FOLLENSBY

The wedding of Miss Isabel Frances Follelsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Follelsby, and Eshbore Dean Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Locke of Waban, took place Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride at St. Johnsbury, Vt.

The ceremony was performed at 8.30 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Hill, pastor of the St. Johnsbury Congregational Church. Eight young ladies formed an aisle with ropes of evergreen twined with satin ribbon, through which the bride and groom passed. The drawing room, which was attractively decorated with maiden-hair fern and carnations.

The bride and groom stood under a floral arch of pink honeysuckle, maiden-hair fern, evergreen and white spirea. The bride was given in marriage by her father, was exquisitely crowned in cream white champagne with pink lace trimmings, and wore a full gown of white with orange blossoms and carried a full shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Maude E. Follelsby, as maid of honor, who was becomingly attired in a gown of Melody rose-colored charmeuse and carried sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Mr. Brewster Cook of Waban, as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Dailey Follelsby of New York, brother of the bride; Mr. Carl E. Herriek of Worcester; Mr. Denton G. Nutter of Newton; Mr. Francis W. Lee of Hammond street, member of the committee of arrangements, had a narrow escape from injury when one of the heavyweight jumpers shied at the bars and knocked him down. The driver recovered control of the horse and saved Mr. Lee from further injury.

Mr. Edwin S. Webster's entries won many prizes, including a first in the harness class, first in children's pony class, third in runabout horse class, third in combination horses, fourth in saddle pairs and first in saddle tandem.

The library was decorated with combine and the five-prizes were banked with flowers, ferns and evergreen. A reception followed the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Locke were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Follelsby, parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Locke, parents of the groom.

There was a large company of guests present from New York, Worcester, Waban and St. Johnsbury. Vt. present complement view of the Newton schools, there will be some hope that better results will be accomplished with considerable less expense.

MT. IDA SCHOOL.

The graduation exercises at the Mt. Ida School for Girls were held Wednesday evening and a class of 31 students received diplomas. The exercises opened with the processional march, followed by a song, "Song of Thanksgiving," by the entire school. Prayer was offered by Rev. Loren A. Clevenger of Somerville. The address to the class was made by Prof. William Allen Nelson of Harvard University, and the principal of the school, George F. Jewett, presented the diplomas. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Thomas Chalmers, Manchester, N. H., and the recessional, "On Our Way Rejoicing," brought the exercises to a close.

Following the exercises the members of the class gave a large reception to their classmates and friends, the members of the junior class acting as ushers.

The officers of the class are: Miss Louise M. Clevenger, president; Miss Dorothy P. Craven, vice-president; Miss Marie Nelson, secretary, and Miss Dorothy C. Dole, treasurer.

On Tuesday evening members of the school gave an admirable presentation of "Mid-Summer Night's Dream." The play was staged under the direction of Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, and the participants received much applause. The affair was a part of the annual commencement exercises, and many relatives and friends of the young students were on hand. Two powerful spot lights were used, and the costumes worn were beautiful. School banners and Japanese lanterns decorated the building, and an orchestra composed of students rendered selections during the evening.

CHESTNUT HILL HORSE SHOW.

Society was out in full force last Friday at the annual horse show on the Longwood cricket grounds at Chestnut Hill, and proved an unusually successful affair.

Edwin S. Webster's Charm furnished the only unexpected event of the day, and but for an ultimate manifestation of plain horse sense he might have caused a disastrous happening. It was during a combination class in the afternoon and Charm was being changed from the wheel to the saddle, when he bolted without a bride. He took several full turns around the ring with the judges and grooms in pursuit. After working the audience into a pitch of wild excitement by his antics, Charm trotted back to his place of his own accord.

The highest honors in prizes went to Mr. Harry L. Burrage of West Newton, who entered two horses in the jumping competition only, and won three blue and one yellow ribbon.

Mr. Francis W. Lee of Hammond street, member of the committee of arrangements, had a narrow escape from injury when one of the heavyweight jumpers shied at the bars and knocked him down. The driver recovered control of the horse and saved Mr. Lee from further injury.

Mr. Edwin S. Webster's entries won many prizes, including a first in the harness class, first in children's pony class, third in runabout horse class, third in combination horses, fourth in saddle pairs and first in saddle tandem.

MUSICALS

A society event of unusual interest was the annual musical given by Mrs. Charles Whittemore on Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 6 at her residence on Summit street, Newton.

Guests prominent in social life, numbering about 125, assembled in the reception rooms, which were very elaborately decorated with American Beauty roses, the color scheme for the decorations being pink.

A program of rare excellence was presented, which comprised works by the well known composers, Mendelssohn, Strauss, Schumann, Bach and Chaminade. It included vocal selections beautifully rendered by Mrs. Grace Bonner Williams, soprano; violin solos by Miss Rosalind Kempton; piano duets by Mrs. Caroline Wunsch Gould and Miss M. Violet White; cello solos by Miss Edith Scovien; and the accompaniment by Miss Ida Chase of the Chadey Trio. Mrs. Alice Pitts and Miss Lillian West were accompanists.

Mrs. Whittemore was assisted in entertaining her guests by Miss Bessie Whittemore, Mrs. Edwin Whittemore, Mrs. David Whittemore, Mrs. Carl T. Whittemore, Mrs. S. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. E. M. Bancroft, Mrs. Harry R. Milner and Mrs. Clarence C. Smith.

Anderson won the golf championship, there were athletic sports in the afternoon and a musical in the evening. Wednesday morning, the annual baseball game was played and in the afternoon the formal graduation exercises were held. Prof. Edward M. Lewis of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, made the address, and prizes were presented by Mrs. Fessenden. The senior class gift to the school was a large silver loving cup. Members of the graduating class held a dinner at the Woodland Park Hotel in the evening, followed by an automobile straw ride.

There was a large attendance at the missionary concert Sunday evening at the Congregational Church. Rev. Samuel C. Bartlett of Otaru, Japan, an efficient missionary who served for twenty-five years under the American Board, was the speaker, and gave an intensely interesting address.

Gerald, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Donovan of Auburn street had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon, when in jumping from a grocer's wagon, in which he was riding, he landed almost in front of a passing automobile. The boy was badly frightened, but not hurt.

The last Mothers' Meeting of the season was held Wednesday afternoon at the Congregational Church. Mrs. Edith P. Duntun was the leader, and five members who attended the U. M. A. in Dedham gave some interesting accounts of what they had heard, and plans were discussed for the work of the coming year.

Gentlemen:
About October 1st, 1911, I purchased a two and one-half ton truck of the Blair Manufacturing Co., and up to the present writing have never regretted. We have found the truck equal to all that was claimed for and are more than pleased with the worm drive proposition, all who have had experience with trucks realize that chains are a noisy and dangerous proposition.

Before purchasing said truck we had given the subject quite a thorough investigation. The point that appealed to us most strongly in the Blair Truck was the fact that it has more load space in front of the rear wheel than any truck we found on the market. Another strong point in our judgment, is the fact that it has two frames, that the whole housing has its own individual frame. A recent experience of ours proved this to be, in our judgment, the proper way to construct a truck.

The Blair Manufacturing Co. also have a way of living up to their word that cannot help appeal to anyone who is in the market for a truck. Yours truly,

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO NEWTON Y. M. C. A.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. was held last week Wednesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall. In spite of the rain about 150 members and their friends were present. The business meeting was held first, when reports were read by the secretary and treasurer and chairmen of committees. The reports showed that the auxiliary had had a busy but successful year. The treasurer reported that over $500 had been raised, $300 of which helped pay the salary of the Boys' Secretary.

The auxiliary has taken charge of twenty suppers for the boys' Bible classes, with an average attendance of thirty-five boys. Money was also given to the association towards the purchase of a Victrola, and vines have been purchased and planted to beautify the front of the Y. M. C. A. building.

At the close of the business meeting the new officers were elected. Then followed an entertainment consisting of several solos by Miss Dalton of Boston, which were very much enjoyed.

Then Mrs. Irving O. Palmer of Newtonville gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the South Sea Islands of South Carolina. Mrs. Palmer is a very pleasing speaker, and after living four winters on the islands, was able to give a very profitable talk on the negroes of this part of the South as she knew them. She recited many Southern poems, and told stories and sang songs, playing her own accompaniment on the violin, all in Southern dialect, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A social hour followed, when refreshments were served by the social committee.

The following are the officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Franklin W. Gansse. Vice-presidents, Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mrs. Moses Clarke. Secretary, Bertha Moore. Assistant Secretary, Mrs. C. L. Cotton.

Treasurer, Miss Emma A. Page. Chairmen of Committees: Devotional, Mrs. G. L. Harwood. Flower, Mrs. A. F. Emery. House, Mrs. F. H. Franklin. Social, Mrs. G. A. Aston. Pantry, Mrs. E. A. Whitney. Finance—Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell, Mrs. E. F. Peterson.

ALUMNI MEET

The Commercial Alumni Association of the Newton High Schools held its regular semi-annual meeting at the Technical High School, Thursday evening, May 29. William N. Swain, Esq., addressed the gathering on Co-operative Banks, after which the members and their guests enjoyed dancing in the library.

The Alumni Association was formed four years ago, and now numbers about two hundred graduates of the commercial courses. Its object is to bring the members together for social and educational purposes. A series of addresses on saving and conservative investment has been presented by men of note in banking and insurance circles. A further aim of the association is to co-operate with the school in obtaining positions for graduates. As a result of well-directed effort along this line, thirty-five members of the Commercial Courses, class of 1913, are already employed at salaries averaging nine dollars per week with firms where promotion is sure to follow meritorious service, and the business experience may be looked upon as a continuation of the education begun in the high school.

LODGES

The various lodge of the I. O. O. F. of Newton will unite in memorial services at Odd Fellows' Hall, West Newton, on Sunday, June 8th, at 3.30 o'clock, P. M. Brother Rev. L. H. Cranford of Newton Centre, will deliver the address.

NEW ENGLAND MONTESSORI ASSOCIATION

The New England Montessori Association was organized May 24th, at a meeting held at the Hotel Vendome, Boston. Officers were elected, a brief constitution and by-laws were adopted and other necessary business was transacted. 75 members were enrolled and many others are expected to join now that the movement has started so auspiciously. Anyone interested may become a member by sending name and address with the annual fee of $1.00 to the treasurer, Dr. Edith Hale Swift, 110 Bay State Road, Boston.

Mrs. Mary Pamela Rice, the well known president of the Fathers and Mothers' Club of Boston, was chairman of the meeting. Later she was elected one of the vice-presidents of the association, as was also Dr. Theodore L. Smith of Clark University. The latter, who was unable to be there, sent a letter expressing her interest in the association and its aims. Letters were read also from the secretary of the House of Childhood in New York; from Professor Vida Scudder of Wellesley College, and from Mrs. Dorothy Caulfield Fisher, the author of "A Montessori Mother."

Mrs. H. Hammond Bullock, the president, spoke briefly of her work and then dwelt especially upon the aims of the association, which are as follows:

To provide a centre for the Montessori interests of New England.

To keep members in touch with the news and growth of the movement by means of its meetings.

To study how best to adapt the work to American conditions.

To give members an opportunity for mutual exchange of practical ideas and experiences and for informal discussion of problems.

To arrange, if possible, summer courses in Boston, and in the fall to establish a training school for teachers, with a connected model class.

Mrs. Bullock has consented to come to Boston at the earnest request of many who believe that her long and successful experience as an educator, writer and social worker, with her seven months' study and training in the School of St. Angelo, in Rome, qualify her to be the ablest exponent of the Montessori work in America.

If there is sufficient interest, she will open a training school in the fall. Meantime, she has volunteered her services for a free Montessori school at one of the Settlement Houses in Boston this summer. There will be a training class for teachers connected with it, arrangements for which are now being completed. Further information may be obtained on application to the corresponding secretary of the association, Miss Evelyn Ellis, 139 Sumner street, Newton Centre, Mass.

Past Commander James H. Wentworth of the Sons of Veterans spoke most feelingly of the women of the Civil War who were behind the men who were behind the guns, the wives and sweethearts of these veterans.

GOOD ADVISE TO BUSINESS MEN

Interesting Address By Mr. L. D. Gibbs To Newton Business Men

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Business Men's Association, held Monday evening at the Newton Free Library building, Mr. Louis D. Gibbs, Superintendent of Advertising of the Edison Electric Ill. Co. of Boston, gave an interesting address on methods of improving business conditions. Mr. Gibbs said in part:—

Broadly speaking every suburban city is made up of three classes of people: Those who live in it because they enjoy it as a place of residence and do business there; those who live in it and do business there because they enjoy it as a place of residence and appreciate its opportunities as a place in which to build up a business and establish a reputation; and third, those who live there and do business there because they feel that they are stuck and can't get out.

It may be broadly stated that a majority of the people who make up the first class take but little interest in the growth and general welfare of their city and town, they have money and apparently are careless where they spend it and, thoughtlessly, not with any idea of securing economical bargains, purchase a great portion of their supplies out of town. In the city, in fact, where they are doing business. A minority of the first big class make an effort to do everything they can to build up the city or town, work for its interests, boost for it and try to patronize their local stores whenever possible. It is from this minority that the local merchants get most of their business. They get a little scattering business from the larger portion of this first class, but nothing to speak of. They could not live and maintain their establishments if it were not for the thoughtful, painstaking minority.

The second class, those people who are doing business in the town or city because they enjoy living there and because they are ambitious to build up successful business and become real factors in the city life are the ones who make up such organizations as this Newton Business Men's Association. Such men as you are the real factors in the city life. You make for its development, for its steady progress and for the establishment of its reputation for wholesome government, fine institutions, smooth, well-lighted streets and in general for its attractiveness.

The third class include the chronic kickers, the ne'er-do-wells, the people who have to be carried along, as it were, on the wave of advancement. I am not speaking about the poor and the laborers, who do not expect, and consequently do not have, a great deal of influence in the city's development. I am referring more specifically to the non-progressive. The working men earn their way for the most part, they should not be discounted in their importance. They really help toward progress but these other people, merchants or whatever class they may be under, are drags on the development.

Obviously there are, among many others, two important lines of effort and development along which you live members of this Business Men's Association can work. The first, and what seems to me the most important, is to endeavor to eliminate these chronic, ne'er-do-wells and chronic kickers, those who are pessimists about everything and whom you will find almost anywhere in considerable numbers. We are sometimes inclined to think that these people are of no account, but as a matter of fact, they are a good deal of account—much more than we realize. They are real hindrances. They are not only useless but they have a bad influence and are really the people to whom we can charge most of the things that are discreditable and lead to backwardness development in any city or town. They may not be the ones who break windows, commit petty larceny, get boisterously drunk and break the peace, but it is their influence that makes that sort of thing possible.

What can be done with these pessimists? The answer is that they can be done with them. That they are handicapped while other men are advanced by the fortunes of luck. They look at things in a haphazard way and think things are done that way everywhere. They have no faith in a consistent scheme of forward living; they seem almost beyond education and inspiration.

What then can be done with them. It seems to me the only thing is to endeavor to eliminate them. If they are in business they seem to stick in spite of their adverse circumstances. They seem to prove exceptions to the rule of the survival of the fittest. It seems then as though the best process of elimination is by getting live men to take their places. Interest live, energetic men to come into the city, buy the homes of these backward people, buy out their businesses—that is the only way it would seem that you can be freed of them.

Of course, this brings in competition for some of you, but none of you need fear that—there is plenty of business—all it needs is the practice of up-to-date methods and constant effort to develop the business more and more rapidly. The coming of new men into your various lines of business cannot handicap you—you are growing. The stimulus of new blood will make you work better; make your business grow faster. These new live men will bring in new live ideas, new points of view and you can all profit by co-operative associations, like this one you have here.

Such a plan as this seems to provide for the growth of your business houses; where then are you going to get the business on which to grow?

Clearly, this business will come through steady increase in population, but your best and most profitable business men will come through getting the trade of more and more of those who now order outside of town. If you let these people know that you can serve them just as well and just as cheaply as they can be served by outside stores they will come to you. We know that you can serve them as well. The great problem is, however, that they do not believe, and in some cases experience bears it out, that you can serve them as cheaply. If you get

PLANS FOR 1914

Newton Social Service League To Hold Another May Breakfast

The Social Service League of the Newton Hospital Aid Association wishes to announce that a second annual May Breakfast will be given by them in May, 1914.

The plans will be carried out next year by the same entertainment committee, under the direction of the executive board, and it is hoped that many of the sub-committees will remain the same.

The League wishes to thank the people of all the Newtons who so generously patronized the May Breakfast which it gave on May 10th, 1913. The League also extends its heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all those who assisted in carrying out the plan so successfully.

The total receipts were $2,574.52. This included $210 from a newspaper which was so ably edited, and various amounts raised by those sections of Newton, where the Breakfast Plan was not practical.

ANNUAL PRIMARY PARTY

A merry company of little children assembled on the spacious grounds surrounding the estate of Dr. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Day on Sargent street, Tuesday afternoon, it being the annual primary party of the Elliot Sunday School.

There was an attendance of about sixty and they were conveyed in barges from Elliot Church to the grounds, and were accompanied by their teachers. They were delightfully entertained during the afternoon, with various outdoor games and a miniature merry-go-round was kept busy.

Everything combined to make it a most successful and enjoyable occasion. It was a perfect June day and the air was redolent with the sweet scent of flowers, but among the fairest of the flowers was the bevy of little girls seated on the grassy lawn in a large circle, partaking of ice cream and cake.

This event, which is always looked forward to with great pleasure, was thoroughly enjoyed, not only by the children, but also by the ladies who had charge of the party.

FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Interesting Meetings Held by the Newton Association

On the evening of Wednesday, May 28th, an open meeting was held at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, under the auspices of the Newton Equal Franchise Association, at which Representative Thomas W. White stated frankly his personal reasons for opposing the Constitutional Amendment in favor of Woman Suffrage at the State House during the present session.

Mr. White declared himself an opponent of the measure—but also expressed himself as being open to conviction when, in his opinion, any considerable majority of women should give evidence of demanding the ballot.

The case in favor of Equal Suffrage was then presented by Mrs. Theresa A. Crowley, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Equal Suffrage Association.

Mrs. Crowley, who is a successful attorney in active practice, outlined the case in favor of women's voting, and presented with clarity and comprehension the legal and constitutional arguments in behalf of such legislation. At the close of her speech, a general discussion followed, in which both speakers and many of the audience participated, and keen interest in the subject under debate was manifested.

In reply to a question by Mr. White, Mrs. Henry W. Plinkham, who has recently settled in Boston, having previously lived in Denver, spoke at some length describing the experience of women in Colorado as voters. She laid stress upon the favorable influence exerted by women in the framing of protective and progressive measures relating to women and children.

The meeting was very well attended. Mrs. William L. Garrison, Jr., acted as presiding officer.

An out-door meeting was held on Friday, June 6th, on the grounds of Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther of Newton Centre, at which Mrs. Maud Wood Park was the principal speaker. Mrs. Park, who has journeyed around the world to observe and study the conditions of women in various climes and countries, told of her impressions and the inferences which she drew in favor of the social advantage of granting women the protection and power of the ballot. She dwelt at some length upon the subjects of the social evil, criminal offenses against minors, and the curse of child labor. Mrs. Park makes her appeal not only with rare distinction and charm as a speaker, but conveys the impression and conviction which first-hand observation and personal experience and research alone can produce.

An active discussion followed the conclusion of her talk. Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson, an honorary vice-president of the Newton Association, then told of her observations of the successful working of woman suffrage in New Zealand and Australia.

INFORMAL DANCE

The members of the Senior Girls' Club, N. H. S., were entertained at an informal dancing party by Miss Helen Ames on Saturday evening at her residence on Highland street, West Newton.

The broad piazza surrounding the house were tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers and potted plants and illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

There was a well arranged order of sixteen dances, and the couples were in attendance. Miss Vida Chase of the Chadeny Trio furnished a fine program of popular dance music.

TWENTY-FOUR GRADUATES

Commencement Exercises Held This Week at Lasell

In the Auburndale Congregational Church Tuesday morning the eighty-eighth graduation exercises of Lasell Seminary were held and a class of twenty-four seniors were given diplomas. The exercises were attended by large numbers of the alumnae and many visitors. George S. Dunham of the seminary faculty, was at the organ and played the processional. Prayer was offered by Rev. Willis P. Odell, Ph.D., and there were organ and viola selections by Mr. Dunham and Professor Samuel Goldstein, also of the faculty.

The address to the graduating class was made by Rev. Albert Parker Fitch, D. D., president of the Andover Theological Seminary, and the presentation of diplomas and announcement of prize winners was made by the principal, Dr. Guy M. Winslow. The exercises ended with the benediction, pronounced by the pastor of the church, Rev. William C. Gordon.

Following the service at the church the annual singing of class songs in the "crow's nest" by the seniors took place, and then that coveted spot was presented to the junior class. Luncheon for the seniors, undergraduates and visitors was served, and in the afternoon the alumnae and "old girls" held a meeting.

RECITAL

The members of the Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association, pupils of Miss Helen Douglas gave the closing recital for the season on Friday evening at their teachers' studio on Foster street. The program was in two parts and included twenty numbers, comprising works of such well-known composers as Schumann, Gaudier, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Hummel and Leybach, and each number was received with enthusiasm by the large audience.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer assisted in the program and played the violin part of Traumerel, with Miss Sylvia Church at the piano, and also the violin part of Wagner's Bridal Chorus, with Miss Marjorie Palmer at the piano. Mrs. Palmer also contributed a selected reading at the close of the program.

Miss Veronica Barry had the highest average for the year and received first prize, while Miss Eleanor Frai carried off the second prize. Honorable mention was made of Miss Mary Barry, Miss Hazel Cunningham, Mr. Carleton Smith, Miss Marjorie Palmer and Jack McKean. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Included among those who took part in the program were Jack McKean, George Parlin, Harold Plinn, Sylvia Church, Wallace Richmond, Raymond Leonard, Perry Allen, Richard Leonard, Gertrude Barry, Veronica Barry, Carleton Smith, Clarence Wyatt, Evelyn Burnham, Ruth Jones, Katharine Auryansen, Frances Rimbach, Eleanor Frai, Mary Barry, Hazel Cunningham, Marjorie Palmer and Mrs. Palmer.

Each S was awarded to those charter members who fulfilled the qualifying conditions of usefulness, loyalty, and obedience, and they are privileged to wear them as long as they live up to those conditions. The following were recipients of the S's: Leverett Gleason, Ralph Marchant, Francis Blue, William Donald, George Farmer, Joseph Peola, Burton Morgan, Leo Moran, Roland Kitchin, Mianese Gulian, George Major, Thomas Green, Howard Carley.

YOUTHFUL ATHLETES

Grammar School Meet Won By Stearns School With Peirce School a Good Second

The athletic field of the Newton Y. M. C. A. was alive last Saturday morning with numerous small boys, who in regulation sleeveless shirts and white knee trousers were determined to win for their school the athletic championship of the Grammar Schools of the city. The entries numbered 222 and about every boy was there when the events began promptly at nine o'clock. With such a field, high praise must be given to Playground Director Ernest Hermann and his capable assistants for the promptness with which the affair was handled, the finish, planned for twelve o'clock being delayed for only a few moments.

The meet proved to be a trial of strength between the Peirce school of West Newton and the Stearns of Nantum, the latter forging ahead during the last fifteen minutes and winning by 6 points over the Peirce. The Mason school proved an important factor in determining the winner, it had a long and safe lead in running the junior relay race, when one of its team became stage struck and delayed so long in taking up the race when it was his turn, as to allow the Stearns school to win the event, and those 10 points really decided the winner of the meet.

The junior events were won by the Stearns with a total of 27 points to 11 for Peirce, 7 for Mason and 6 for Mann-Clafin. The preliminary heats in the 25 yards dash were won by Weaver, Stuart, Sevigine and Keeley with Lyons, Scott, Quinn and O'Laughlin second. Scott and Sevigine won the semi-finals. Lyons and Quinn being second, and Stuart and O'Laughlin third. Sevigine won the finals, Stuart, second and Lyons third.

In the 50-yard event, the winners in the preliminaries were Weaver, Lyons, Sevigine and Dudley, with Lyons, Stuart, Cole and Scott second. Sevigine and Stuart won the semi-finals, and Weaver and Lyons second and Dudley and Scott, third. Weaver won the finals with Sevigine second and Stuart third. The junior relay race, 16 to a team, was won by Stearns, with Peirce second. In the field events, Belisle, Stearns won the running high jump, with Vaughn, Mason, second, and Garrity, Peirce, third. The running broad jump was won by Dudley, Mann-Clafin, Sevigine, Stearns, second and Wilson, Stearns, third.

Peirce won the intermediate events with perfect ease, having first place in all but one of the events. In the 50-yards dash, the preliminaries were won by Shaughnessy, Garrity, Meekins and Cook with Diamond, Hayes, Oaks, and Green, second. The Semi-finals were won by Garrity and Diamond, with Shaughnessy and Meekins, second. Cook and Green third, Garrity Peirce, won the finals, with Shaughnessy, Peirce, second, and Diamond, Stearns third. In the 100 yard dash, Shaughnessy, Garrity, Meekins and Hughes won the trial heats, Diamond, Hayes, Kyall and Edwards being second. Diamond and Meekins won the semi-finals, Shaughnessy and Edwards, being second, and Garrity and Hayes, third. The finals were captured by Shaughnessy, Peirce, with Diamond, Stearns, second, and Garrity, Peirce, third. The 220 yard run was won by Shaughnessy, Peirce, with Garrity, Peirce, second, and Dame, Mann-Clafin, third. The relay race was captured by Stearns with Peirce second, McBride, Peirce won the running high jump with Botsford, Burr, second and Green, Hyde, third. The running broad jump was won by Diamond, Stearns, Berry, Mason, second, and Dame, Mann-Clafin, third.

The Mann-Clafin with four out of five firsts, easily won the senior events with Mason second. The 100 yard dash trial heats were won by Nutting, Shaughnessy and Spaulding, with McGill, Quinlan and Macomber, second, while, Nutting, Mason, McGill, Burr and Shaughnessy, Peirce, finished the finals in the order named. The 440 yard run was won by Stahl, Mann-Clafin, with Manley, Mason, second, and Coleman, Mason, third. Clark Macomber, Mann-Clafin, was the point winner in the field events, winning first in the running high jump, running broad jump and shot put. Little, Mason, was second in the high jump, with McBride, Peirce, third. Quinlan, Stearns was second in the broad jump with Wansker, Bigelow, third, and Quinlan, Stearns, was second in the shot put with Curley, Peirce, third.

Clark Macomber of the Mann-Clafin won the largest number of points with three first places; Charles Shaughnessy, Peirce, was second, with two firsts, one second and one third, and Alfred Sevigine, Stearns, was third with one first and two seconds.

Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded the individual winners and a handsome gun metal shield was awarded to the Stearns school, the winner of the meet.

The officials in charge included Mr. Hermann, as director, William Macpherson, referee; M. L. Bessell and H. O. Loomis, clerks of course; Henry MacLure, starter; William Adams, George Litchfield and Lohair Van Buskirk, judges; Lester M. Lane, Wm. A. Dorney, Ralph Hyatt, timers; Wm. H. WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BOWY, Editor.

The following reports were given at the recent annual meeting of the State Federation:

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

At the beginning of the season of 1912-1913 the following outline was adopted by the Music Department as the plan of work to be followed during the year:

I.—To interest clubs in the work of this Department.

II.—To present a uniform plan of music study which should develop more real musical appreciation among women.

III.—To get a workable knowledge of music study already attempted in various clubs.

IV.—To create a desire in women to improve the quality of the speaking voice.

V.—To emphasize at all times the courtesy of the "absolute silence" usually requested (and so frequently abused) during a musical performance.

VI.—To further the plan of united choral work among club members, the same to be called a "Federated Chorus," and to sing at some Federation meeting.

VII.—To be of musical service to clubs.

(a) By developing Outline for Course of Music Study.

(b) By suggesting other lines of study.

(c) By suggesting or arranging musical talent for club meetings upon request.

This plan includes all the ambitions of this Department, and the year's work may properly be judged by the success of our efforts in this direction.

Department members have given numerous musical afternoons to clubs, and the outline for course of study has been developed as well.

Plans were practically completed for the first appearance of a Federation Chorus, which should sing at one of the sessions of this meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard.

The foundation for this chorus is already laid, and the outlook for success in this line so promising. It has seemed advisable to postpone the appearance of the Federated Chorus, and plan more definite work for another season.

Last year a circular letter was sent out asking for club interest and cooperation. In November, 1912, a second letter was sent, again assuring the clubs of our interest in their musical work, also suggesting that music be made special subject rather than a secondary one. In March, 1913, a third letter followed, again emphasizing the need of more music study.

Announcements and suggestions for furthering this plan were given. So many requests for further information have been received, there is every reason to believe some benefit is derived from these circular letters.

In the replies which have so far been received, the real musical situation, not only of clubs, but of Massachusetts, is revealed. Music forms the background in most club programs. At least, music is generally interwoven with the subject of the day. But in most instances, the real deep significance of music in life's program is overlooked. Music has too long been side-tracked as an "accessory." In club work it has been used too much as a "filler in." It is true (and much to the credit of the clubs so engaged), that a real musical development has been forwarded and encouraged by some clubs—but the majority have failed to sense the importance and the fitness of music in club life. In each individual life, and in the welfare of our country, music is a serious thing, and should no longer be considered as only amusing and entertaining. It is a fact of paramount importance, that music fits into the spirit of everything. And of what other art can this be said? It is the natural expression of our feelings, and nothing else can prove so inspiring, so restful, so alluring and so satisfying to the majority. From time immemorial, the human heart has expressed itself through song.

It is said that the "man who sings at his work" does not exist in America today. Men are too busy to sing. Without a song in the heart no work can be rightly done. And it is time that the American people, as individuals—not as musicians—accept this fact. As Massachusetts women we recognize the advantages of living near so musical a centre as Boston; but in spite of this privilege, we put far, far behind us the need of a better understanding of music to appreciate these opportunities.

There is today, all over our land, a gradual awakening to the needs of a more thoughtful attitude toward music. It is not necessary for us to be musicians to take music seriously, and to realize what it means in life. Sometimes musicians fail to appreciate music in the larger sense. What so quickly stimulates the heart in the time of joy as song? What so deeply touches the heart in sorrow as song? And the which applies itself so readily to the individual need strikes just as deep a note in national importance.

And so, in persistently presenting the plans of this department, and in constantly urging you to become interested in music study, it is not that we may achieve glory, laud or honor, but that each woman in each club may realize the actual need of music in her own life, in the family life in the community, and so throughout the country. To hear music is pleasing to the senses; to consider music seriously, and to realize the true significance of it, is to stimulate each individual with the desire to become more interested in the subject of music, and to desire a further knowledge of it as it may apply to our needs.

It is said, "Charity begins at home."

In our own individual temple, we house our valuable musical asset which has been abused. Before we attempt any outside cleaning our own door-step should be swept. The very sweetest of all music is the human voice—it sometimes is made the harshest.

One well modulated musical voice is an incentive to another, and if each woman would take to heart her own need in this direction, the musical culture of this State would be richly endowed. And so we ask you, as club women, to cultivate a real desire for the study of music; put away the robe of indifference or antagonism, and consider yourselves as loyal Massachusetts women, bound to take the lead in advancing the growth and the spirit of music in America, that it may become and continue to be the necessary heart-beat and the pulse of this country, that it is in every other country.

LENA B. NEWTON, Chairman.

EDUCATION

The Department of Education has continued its work of last year to interest club women in Moral Education, Scholarship Funds, Better Newspapers, Vocational Education, Home and School Associations, and has especially urged this year that the clubs work for Peace; that they become better acquainted with the Montessori System of teaching; that they visit and interest themselves in the improvement of the Moving Picture Theatre, and that every club have a committee to visit the schools.

As the whole American educational world has been regarding the Montessori System as likely to modify American elementary schools to a marked degree, the committee urge that women become acquainted with this method of teaching and the materials used.

The annual questions sent to the clubs were more fully answered than last year. Nearly every club is doing some educational work. Forty clubs are doing the most necessary work of awakening public sentiment for Moral Education, and report more interest shown than last year. Twenty-one clubs report lectures on Vocational Education.

The question of the Moving Picture Theatre interests thirty-three clubs. Many have a committee who visit the theatres often exercising a censorship. Managers of these theatres are glad of club co-operation, and have been willing to suppress objectionable films. Nearly all report an improvement in picture shows. The Monday Club of Weymouth has purchased the moving picture equipment for use in its schools.

Twenty-nine clubs have become acquainted with the Montessori System.

Last year only seven clubs reported work for Better Newspapers. This year nineteen have been actively engaged. Some have subscribed to those papers only that have taken a stand for clean journalism. Others have written letters of approval or disapproval to the publishers. Some still think there is no need of this work. Many of the clubs publicly endorsed the paper that abolished its comic supplement.

The number of clubs maintaining a scholarship fund has grown this year. Nearly all the larger clubs are doing this splendid work, and many are supporting more than one girl. We believe that those clubs that are loaning money for a complete college or normal school education are doing the most satisfactory work.

Thirty-eight clubs report they have considered the subject of Peace, and through lectures and debates have aroused much interest among the members. Will not every club advocate the celebration of May 18th as Peace Day and that fitting exercises be held in the schools?

Forty clubs are working to bring parents and teachers together.

I wish to report the work of the Education Committee of the Walpole Woman's Club. They have organized and maintained this year a free kindergarten and raised, with the help of the club, $200 for this work. Also that the Education Committee of the Woman's Club of Brockton conducted three summer schools for five weeks with paid teachers.

May 1 in closing this report, ask club women to remember always that the "object of education is to develop physical health, enhance economic efficiency, and increase intellectual vigor."

EMILY E. BROWN, Chairman.

FOOD SANITATION

The Food Sanitation Committee has endeavored the past year to awaken public interest among the club women in the condition of the food supply, believing that in order to achieve any permanent good public interest must be aroused along all lines pertaining to this particular subject. Accordingly, the subject has been divided into six sections, Pure Food Laws, Milk, Extermination of the House Fly, Sanitary Bakeries and Clean Markets, the Honest Label and Food Adulterants. Each member of the committee has taken one of these subjects and made a special study of it, preparing herself to speak upon it.

At the beginning of the season, our president suggested that each member of the committee feel the responsibility of individual work, and this seed certainly fell on fruitful soil in the Food Sanitation Department, for the spirit of co-operation has been shown in attempting to make the work successful. Four conferences have been held during the season.

And now what have the women's clubs been doing to arouse interest where it is needed? Fifty-two clubs have Food Sanitation chairmen, to whom we look to direct the work in their committees. Seventy-five clubs report activity in different lines, many devoting an afternoon's program to the subject. The advantages of cold storage and the methods of proper refrigeration have been clearly shown by lectures by Alton E. Briggs. Seven report activity in the milk supply of their community. Twenty-five report interest in the fly. The Garden Club distributed circulars in the schools. The Winchester Fortnightly Club provided talks upon the fly in every grade of the public schools. Leaflets were given to the children to be used as reading lessons in school and then taken home, and an illustrated lecture was given to the older people. Several clubs have had illustrated lectures. Seven report efforts made for bakery inspection, twelve for market inspection, sixteen report an interest in the Honest Label. Fourteen have informed themselves on the Pure Food laws, while fourteen clubs report "No Activity." This, in many instances, is owing to the fact that the subject of Food Sanitation is a part of the Home Economics Department of the clubs. Several clubs which reported "No Activity" last year have given one or more meetings to the subject this year.

In answer to the question which was sent out, "What has been the most helpful line of work which your club has considered in the subject of Food Sanitation?" an interesting variety of answers has been given.

The Chairman of the Pure Food Committee of the Worcester Club states in her report of the exhibit held this year, that the "most important work and the one far-reaching influence has been the Pure Food and Domestic Science Exposition given March 26th-April 5th, 1913.

The committee has prepared a leaflet with an outline of subjects for study and a bibliography for reference which was mailed to every club in the State. This was done because so many ask, "What shall I do, Where shall I begin?" and a united effort on the part of the club members in a community cannot fail to be productive of good results. Copies of this outline may be secured upon application to the chairman.

The Pure Food Expositions, which several of the clubs have held, are certainly the most far-reaching of any form of work, and we hope that more of the clubs will provide these during the coming year.

Pure Food means good health, and good health is worth more to the nation than all its other resources.

JEANNETTE M. TYLER, Chairman.

CONSERVATION

The term "Conservation" as applied to this department first appears in the manual of 1911-1912. Although the change from Forestry to that of Conservation brings to our organization the benefit of conformity with the General Federation, yet, from the various questions received, it appears that the true understanding of the subject is not all it might be. Some of us thirty ones have been practicing Conservation all our lives. Now our government has begun to bestir itself and a nation's thrift, economy, foresight, are themes of the hour. Out of the Conference of Governors held at Washington in 1908, grew the National Conservation Movement, which is founded on three simple propositions: First, that all the lands and waters in the United States not yet privately owned belong to the whole people; that whoever is allowed by the people to make use of them or of their contents must be required to pay full value for what he takes; and that no one generation has a right to make or allow so wasteful a use of these resources that succeeding generations will be deprived of the benefit of them. The conservation committee of the Massachusetts State Federation has done effective work the past year. We have held, however, only two conferences as against five in 1912; one general State conference Feb. 18, 1913, by courtesy of the West Roxbury Woman's Club, one local conference March 19, 1913, at Ayer, with the Ayer Woman's Club as hostess. These conferences were well attended, and much interest was shown by the numerous questions asked concerning practical work in Tree Planting, School Gardens, Municipal Forests, etc.

One of the pleasant features of the year's work has been the Conservation Study Class, under the able leadership of the former chairman, Mrs. Mary Lathrop Tucker. The meetings have been held monthly, and with enjoyment and profit to all.

The outlook on the whole is most cheering, for even in cases of no club activity in the line of conservation, there is now and then mention made of a "Children's Day," lecture on "Conservation of Birds," or requests have been sent to Washington for literature on the subject.

A club near a summer school reports attendance at lectures, and during "Farmers' Week," and through the activity of one of its members, was instrumental in remedying the pollution of a stream, thereby changing a dumping ground into a spot of beauty.

One club reports a committee for suppression of bog fires. This club is an infant of two years, but acted as hostess to a State conference, and has done remarkable work in the line of school gardens.

Another club induced the city government to increase appropriations for moth extermination.

The chairman of one city club in Eastern Massachusetts writes, "We have a new City Charter. A great deal is now being done for the City Shade Trees, whose condition formerly was as bad as possible."

While other clubs have done splendid work, Fitchburg and Greenfield have jumped into prominence, and they are mentioned by name because of their initiative in the matter of Municipal Forests.

Conservation in all its phases is in the line of woman's work; and everywhere we see on her part a wonderful awakening to a sense of responsibility.

Every great work has its slogan. This for Conservation: "The World is ours, but only in trust!"

MARY CAROLINE SWEET, Chairman.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION

From the many letters received by the Bureau of Information during the past club season, it is proved that the bureau has become a recognized source of helpful activity. A large percentage of the questions asked in these communications have been such as would come entirely outside the work of any of the regular departments of the Federation.

The Constitution and By-Laws Guide, which was drawn up the latter part of the club season of 1911 and 1912, has been revised during the present season and made to include several changes which have proved of value in different clubs. It is the intention of the bureau to keep this By-Laws Guide open to revision, and to embody therein from time to time valuable constitutional points that may come to notice.

This Guide has been called for many times, and the Bureau has reason to believe that it has offered many suggestions to new clubs and to older ones that have had revision under consideration. Copies are prepared for use by the clubs.

From year books which have been received, programs and interesting data have been collected which may be loaned for reference and suggestion.

The scholarships increase each year, and the Bureau through annual reports received to annual questions sent out, has detailed information regarding the carrying on of these scholarships.

Again the department calls attention to the fact that the Bureau has in its possession outline studies of twenty different countries. These are at the disposal of club study classes—all that is asked in return being that they be returned for benefit of others.

To the seventy-one clubs from whom responses came, the department is exceedingly grateful. It feels, however, that out of the two hundred and fifty organizations in the State Federation that this must mean that there is a large number of clubs that have not yet become imbued with the Federation idea of doing what one can, no matter how small, for the good of the whole.

To the clubs and individual club members who have assisted this particular department of Federation work during the year, the members wish to express their deep appreciation. By your assistance, you have enabled us to lend a helping hand to others. To those who think that they have nothing to offer that is worth while, may we ask that during the coming year you make careful notes of things that have given you pleasure or measures that have proved helpful to you, so that when the questions come to your club another year, we may have two hundred and fifty helpful responses instead of seventy-one. It is not that we need the knowledge of some one great thing, but that in our clubs as in life in general, it is the accumulation of small things that brings about the results desired.

LEILA C. PENNOCK, Chairman.

During the past year the Home Economics Department has continued the work of the previous committee, because we felt that the ideas embodied were fundamental, and we wished to obtain the cumulative effect which comes from continued effort. This committee has endeavored to stimulate greater interest by encouraging and assisting clubs not having Home Economics Departments to organize them, and by urging all clubs to pursue systematic courses of study and to have at least one good lecture in each year's program on a topic connected with this subject. To the work of the last year has been added the study of textiles. Forty lectures have been reported, and several clubs have formed classes which have followed the "Outline on Textiles" prepared by Helen Louise Johnson and sent out by this department. Other clubs have planned to take up this work next year. Various other subjects have been considered during the year. Food heading the list, closely followed by the Economics of Spending, and Household Management.

Our committee has met once each month, and the meetings have been devoted in part to study. We have had a course of six lectures in textiles, which included oratory work in testing for adulterations. The chairman and members of the committee have given talks before clubs on topics dealing with home economics whenever it was found possible to comply with such requests.

If there were time, I should like to speak of the activities of the various clubs, and of the growing desire on the part of club women to learn the scientific principles of home-making, or in other words, the art of right living.

Outlines and suggestions for next year's work have been sent to every club. A conference of chairmen has been arranged for early fall to complete the plans of work in the individual clubs, also a series of six talks to home-makers will be given during the winter in the lecture room of the Boston Public Library. Plans are under way for university extension courses in home economics. Realizing that home-making is the greatest business in the world, and that greater efficiency comes through knowledge, this committee is working with the hope that every club in the Federation shall maintain an active Home Economics Department and shall also exert its influence in favor of more scientific training for the home-maker of the future.

KATHERINE W. HERRON, Chairman.

LEGISLATIVE

The increased interest on the part of the clubs in the legislative work has greatly cheered the chairman and assisted her to results which could not otherwise have been secured. This year the number of clubs studying this work is eighty-three, as compared with thirty-five two years ago. Many clubs have reports from their chairmen each month, and have had their Senator or Representative speak to them, explaining the manner in which a bill is handled from the time it is presented until it becomes a law.

The Executive Board of the Federation selected nine bills for which to

HEATH-MECLEOD

A very beautiful home wedding of interest to society in Providence, Boston, New York and the Newtons took place Tuesday at Providence, when Miss Fredrika Montgomery Macleod, a member of the King family prominent for many years in Rhode Island social circles, became the bride of Mr. Warren Heath of Newtonville, son of the late Daniel Collamore Heath, the well-known Boston publisher.

The King mansion on College Hill, the residence of the bride's aunt, Miss Elizabeth G. King, was transformed into a veritable garden of roses, being profusely decorated with pink and white June roses and ferns.

The ceremony was performed at noon by Rev. Frank Butler, in a bower of pink and white roses backed by greenery. The improvised altar being approached by the bridal party through a aisle of white ribbon, ferns and tropical plants. The Lohengrin wedding march was rendered by William Eccles, organist at the Church of the Transfiguration.

The bride was lovely in a wedding gown of white Duchesse satin with long court train and bodice of real lace with a diamond brooch. She wore a diamond heart set in platinum, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a full shower bouquet of lilies of the valley with small clusters of white orchids.

She was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. George Joseph Wallace, of California, and was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen King Macleod, as maid of honor, who was gowned in white embroidered tulle over pink satin and wore a large white picture hat trimmed with pink roses and carried an armful of roses of various shades of pink.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. James Knox of New York city, as best man, and the ushers were Collamore Heath of New York, brother of the groom, Chas. Heath of New York, James Wiley of Boston, and Maus Wheelwright of Providence.

A reception and wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, the bride and groom being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Daniel Collamore Heath, mother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. George Joseph Wallace and Miss Elizabeth G. King.

Mrs. Heath wore a beautiful gown of gray embroidered charmeuse with corage garniture of Duchesse lace and hat of gray, with white ostrich plumes.

Mrs. Wallace was exquisitely gowned in bronze chiffon over pale pink charmeuse, with over drapery of cream colored lace and amber garniture, bronze straw hat with pale pink ostrich plumes.

Miss Elizabeth King was gowned in black silk brocade with garniture of rose point lace. Mrs. Gilbert King wore pale yellow charmeuse with tulle of cream colored lace.

The bride's table on the veranda under a canopy, was decorated with green and white. The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a pair of diamond shoe buckles, and the bridegroom's gifts to his ushers and best man were silver card cases. The gift of the bride to the bridegroom was a gold cigarette holder.

Mr. and Mrs. Heath left for an extended bridal trip including a stay in the Adirondacks, New London, and Hyannisport, the summer home of Mr. Heath's mother, and will sail for Europe in September, where Mr. Heath will study art for a year in Paris.

Spirella
CORSETS

Give the Suppleness of the Uncorseted Figure
Only by the use of flexible boning can a corset give that easy suppleness to the figure which is now demanded by the ultra-fashionable. Because of its perfectly flexible boning, the Spirella Corset is ideally adapted to meet this need. All its lines are long and soft, though adhering evenly to the figure. Spirella boning yields easily in every direction, allowing uncorseted comfort under all conditions. Yet it will not take a permanent bend nor lose its original shape.

Every Spirella Corset is made in individual measure and is adapted to the needs of the wearer as to form and her own size.

"Providence"

All

Change!"

Many of you remember that call of the conductor.

Providence was only one of many "all change" points.

That was because each little railroad had run its short course.

Today the weary or book-bound traveler is carried in peace to his destination.

Unified management means convenience and comfort to the traveler.

Within the last ten years of library progress, it has become an established fact that there is much along the lines of social work to be accomplished by the library and its branches. This is what is known as library extension work. Even the smaller libraries have their opportunities and are seeing the possibility of placing before the public the chance for sociability along educational lines.

Here in Newton we have nine branches engaged in various degrees of library assistance to their communities. One branch has been able to venture further ahead than the others, along these lines. This is the Thompsonville Branch, opened three years ago. Being located in the school building it has been a convenient assembly-place, in fact the only one, for the nearby residents, especially the young people. Here a club of twenty boys have held weekly meetings under the supervision of the library assistant in charge. The meetings were at first held in the library room, but becoming more ambitious they acquired a larger adjoining room. The boys painted it themselves. They solicited and bought games and posters and through the kindness of a neighboring association, tables and other gifts have helped to furnish the attractive room. Here many of the business men of the Newtons have given the boys interesting, informal talks on such subjects as—"Tanning Leather," "Manufacture of the Dixon Pencil," "Publication of a Newspaper and Magazine," "Court Proceedings," "Concrete Construction," "The Coppersmith's Art," "A Day on the Stock Exchange," "Education Efficiency," "Making a Soldier," "The Panama Canal," "A Trip on the Great Lakes," and "The Titanic Disaster."

Some of the boys have more than once spent much time reading at the main library preparing lectures, which were afterward given, illustrated with lantern slides owned by the library. This year good clean sports have been their goal. A baseball team has been organized, and a determined campaign for a permanent playground is afoot.

A flower mission is held each spring. All the children enter heartily to gather the many wild flowers. These are studied as they are brought in. The new ones are looked up in the books and their names recorded. The flowers are sent to Boston, either to a settlement house or the Children's Hospital.

A reading-club for promoting the reading of non-fiction by both boys and girls has been successfully carried on. This year a sewing club has been formed for the high school girls. Each member has made and is wearing an attractive dress cut and made by herself. Stories of some of the best operas have been read and the operas afterward heard by the older girls, who have also studied and seen some of the comedies of Shakespeare.

Thus can be seen the beginning of an endless chain of activities, limited only by the time and ability of the one in charge. This branch is open twice a week and on Sunday afternoons in the winter. It has in the winter months an average attendance of fifty. Most of these remain through the entire period of opening. Illustrated post-cards, stereographic views, picture books and primers amuse the younger children while as good a selection of books as can be obtained from the main library are at the disposal of the older readers.

We have been able to progress even this little way into the big field of library extension work by having had the loyal support and willing help as it has been needed.

CORRESPONDENCE

To Editor of Graphic:—
From your report of the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen, I judge that the suggestion of one member that an effort be made to reduce car fares in Newton, did not excite much interest among the members except that of "Citizen Cox" who was not favorable. It is up to the people of Newton to read the reports of aldermanic proceedings and to give Mr. Blanchard support in a measure which means so much to the people using the lines where six cents fare is now charged. Mr. Richards has proved himself so far-sighted and efficient in his business judgment that we have been a little surprised that he has not realized that the loss by a universal charge of 5 cents in Newton and the abolition of transfer charge might now be largely returned in additional car fares.

BASEBALL

On June 17th, Claffin Field will be the scene of a notable conflict between the Newtonville Methodist Sunday School baseball nine, champions of the Newton Sunday School Athletic League, and a nine composed of members of the Central Club of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville. The game will be called sharp at 3.30 P. M. Mayor Hatfield has been invited to open the game and a number of members of the city government will be present. The members of the Central Club are making every effort to make the game a notable success before a large crowd. Tickets are being sold which will include a strawberry supper after the game, and to be held in the Central Church parlors. It is expected that nearly every fan and spectator will repair to the church to partake of the delightful feast. The captain of the Central Club team is Channey Waldron, and the manager of the champions is Newton Hyslop. Mrs. A. E. Vose will be chairman of the ladies committee in charge of the strawberry feast. The present officers of the Central Club are Fred E. Mann, president; Warner Marshall and William C. Bambergh, vice-presidents; Percy F. Williams, treasurer.

LODGES

The regular meeting of General Guiney Council, No. 1380, Royal Arcanum, was held on Wednesday evening, June 4, and the Council voted to hold a Smoke Talk and Entertainment on Wednesday evening, June 18, at Pequotsette Hall at 8 o'clock.

The Smoke Talk committee have made arrangements for a first-class entertainment.

A special and important meeting of the Council has been called by the Smoke Talk Committee to meet on Sunday, June 15, at 2 o'clock P. M. at Pequotsette Hall and all the members should attend this meeting, so that the committee can make final arrangements for the entertainment.

As the Smoke Talk and Entertainment comes on the regular meeting night of the Council, a dispensation has been granted by the Grand Council for General Guiney Council, No. 1380, R. A., to hold their regular meeting at 7 P. M. instead of 8 P. M., June 18.

After the regular business of the meeting, Past Regent W. Starkey of Alston Council was present and entertained all present with remarks on "The Life of Abraham Lincoln."

S. D. G. R. Augustus S. Jansson of Somerville was present and addressed the Council on the good work the Royal Arcanum was doing all over the United States and Canada.

GOOD ADVICE

the volume of business you certainly can. If you buy according to systematic methods you certainly can. If you practice the up-to-date way of doing things, if you keep your stores attractive and not allow them to look like stores of the North and South ends of Boston; if you feature your telephone service; feature quick delivery service by means of bright boys on bicycles; feature house to house order taking where that seems to be more desirable than the use of the telephone, you can get this business.

It is a great thing for every man to know his own city. How many of you business men here tonight can take a city directory and mark off among the residents of Wards 1, 2 and 7 five hundred heads of families whom you know personally? How many of you can mark off in that directory the names of two hundred and fifty women who do the ordering, check the accounts and pay the bills of the households in this district? How many of you know anything about even one hundred families in this section, how many children they have, whether they keep maids or not, their likes and dislikes in the way of food and service? It seems as though about the only thing an organization of this kind is at first formed for is to look after bad accounts, and it sometimes seems as though these organizations keep that thing before them as their main object of existence. If you knew more about Newton men, Newton women, Newton families, you would know whom to trust and for how long, without having to run, as a prime object of your association, a credit checking system.

Of course you all have a good deal of work to take care of during a day, a good deal of supervising and a great mass of detail, but, as a suggestion, suppose each of you set aside two forenoons in each week on which you handle all your telephone business personally as the head of your store; suppose you called up a hundred of your occasional customers on each of those mornings and said—"Good-morning, Mrs. —, this is Mr. —, of such and such a market. You have not bought anything at our store lately, and I have simply called up personally to ask if there was any complaint about our service, if there was any suggestion that you could make so that we could serve you better. We want to do everything we can to please Newton people, we want to save them the trouble and annoyance of going out of town for their supplies." Then give these persons a list of three or four things and what the prices are and if your prices are right you need not be afraid of quoting the Boston prices. If there is a difference of a cent or two here or there you ought to be able to justify it.

It is the personal attention that counts; don't allow yourself to be smothered with detail. I know the problem of securing satisfactory employees is sometimes a hard one, but if young men and young women can be shown that with the experiences gained in stores like yours they can rise to the more important positions and that a city like Newton is not merely a place in which to exist but is the finest, grandest place in the world in which to begin and keep on growing you will get the right kind of employees.

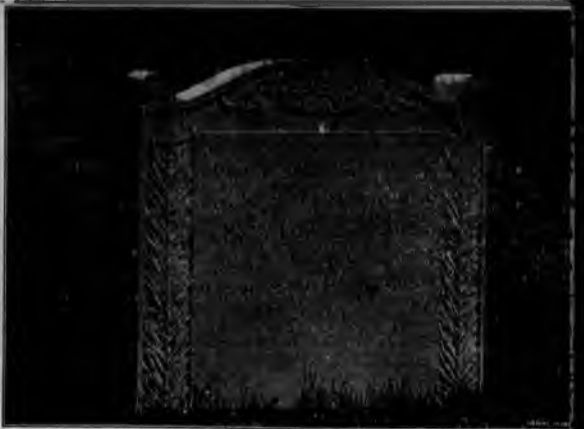

This kind of personal attention, of specific interest (selfish though it may be) in the comfort, convenience and welfare of the families of this section will bring business that you never imagined could be obtained.

Mr. G. A. Aston made a report of progress for the Fourth of July celebration committee, stating that a band had been engaged to give concerts in the afternoon and evening, a contract made for a fine display of fireworks and arrangements were being made for a baseball game in the morning and sports during the afternoon.

CORRESPONDENCE

Gentlemen:—Sentiment is a good word for some things, but that word should be eliminated when the Newton High School management make out their schedule next year for their baseball team. The Brookline team insisted on the Newton High boys playing Tuesday on a "South Boston Ash Dump," having about fifteen (15) paid admissions.

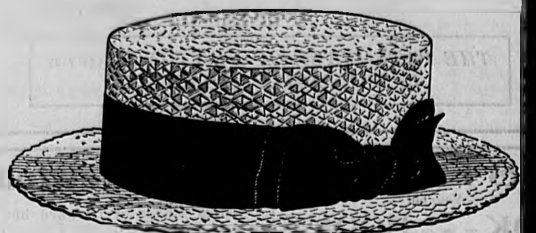

As the Brookline team has ceased to draw patronage, cut them out entirely. H.

NEW RAILROAD LAW

Representative George H. Ellis Makes An Interesting Statement Regarding Its Passage

The new railroad law, recently passed by the Legislature over the veto of the governor, has occasioned so much discussion, that the following statement by Representative George H. Ellis of this city, House Chairman of the Committee on Railroads, will be of interest.

June 19th, 1913.
Editor "Newton Graphic,"
Newton, Massachusetts.

My Dear Sir:—
Holding as I do that a Representative to the General Court should be at all times ready to explain his votes in the Legislature, I am very glad to answer the questions just received from you with reference to the so-called (though now mis-named) Washburn Bill which I do categorically.

1. Will you briefly explain the purpose and scope of the Bill in general? This is fairly well explained by the original title of the Bill which was—"To change the Name, enlarge the membership and increase the Powers of the Board of Railroad Commissioners."

2. What change in existing conditions is made by the so-called financial sections of the law?

The old law provided that no bonds should be issued in excess of amount actually paid in for capital stock. In 1912 this law was changed to allow issuance of bonds to twice the amount of capital stock actually paid in, but providing that if bonds were to be issued in excess of amount paid in for capital stock they must be mortgage bonds and must include in this mortgage all bonds and other evidences of indebtedness, payable at periods of more than twelve months after the date thereof, but no limit was placed on short time notes, which are now in existence to a very large amount on the part of some of our railroads.

The new law does not require a mortgage, but does limit the issue of bonds to an amount "which, when added to the amount of all its then outstanding bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness, shall not cause the aggregate amount of all its bonds, notes and other evidences of indebtedness to exceed twice the amount of the capital stock of the corporation actually paid in at the time"—thus including short time notes with all other indebtedness. And it further provides that, if a railroad should at any time issue a mortgage upon its property it must include in such mortgage "all bonds, notes and other evidences of indebtedness previously issued and then outstanding on equal terms with any other indebtedness secured by such mortgage."

Section 16 provides that except for additions to or improvements of property in another State, a railroad corporation shall not hereafter without the approval of the commission issue any shares of capital stock, nor any bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness payable at periods of more than twelve months after the date thereof, in exchange for or to pay for shares of capital stock, notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any other corporation which are hereafter acquired or contracted

ALDERMEN TAKE IMPORTANT ACTION

Long Debate On Policy of Laying Out of New Streets

Notwithstanding the large amount of important business on the docket at the meeting of the aldermen on Monday evening, the board adjourned shortly after nine o'clock, and prepared the way for the usual summer vacation after the next regular meeting.

President Blakemore was in the chair and Aldermen Barker, Cox, Hatch and Jones were the only members absent.

Hearings were held on petition of the Edison Co. for one pole on Page road, on petition of T. J. Lyons for relocation of a pole on Auburn street. On the latter, representatives of the Telephone and Edison Companies spoke briefly. No one appeared on petitions to keep gasoline by Edmund H. Tarkely, Lincoln street, George G. West, Harvard street, and E. H. Kidder, Chestnut terrace and they were granted immediately. No opposition appeared to sewer construction in Elmore and Cushing street and orders were subsequently adopted authorizing the work.

Mayor Hatfield sent in a recommendation that he be authorized to sell the quarry owned by the city on Lowell avenue, as he claimed it was hindering development in that vicinity. Later, the mayor was granted authority. Aldermen Alley and Pratt explaining that a possible purchaser of land in this neighborhood, who expected to erect a $50,000 residence, was holding off on account of the use of the quarry by the city.

Mayor Hatfield also sent in the results of bids received for a sewer in Boylston and Jackson streets to reach the Thompsonville district. The bids ranged from $13,711.60 to $20,195.70.

The auctioneer license of John A. Potter was renewed, and other petitions received included E. L. Torre for common victualler license, Mary A. Sullivan for Soldiers relief, R. F. Sanderson for sewer, Brae Burn road, W. U. Fogwill for wagon license, for street sprinkling on Langley road, Gardner street, Elmore street and Boylston street, Bancroft et al for improvement of Grove street, Wilson et al for improvement of Clark street, Keene et al to lay out Trowbridge avenue under betterment act, and Chas. F. Johnson, Jr., relative to gift of land for playground in Newton Highlands.

On recommendation of committees, Joseph L. O'Brien was granted a common victualler license on Elm street, the Edison Co. pole location and attachments on Page road, one pole on Columbus street, leave to withdraw two other poles on Columbus street, the Telephone Co. was given attachments on Commonwealth avenue and the Gas Light Co. was authorized to open certain streets for gas mains. $75 was authorized for office furniture for the comptroller of accounts, the cleaning of the Central avenue drain referred to the Street Commissioner, the new act authorizing an additional water supply was accepted and a petition sent to the state board of health to approve the same, street sprinkling was authorized on Surrey road, Boylston and Chestnut street, the last being by amendment from the floor, land was taken and sewers ordered in Walnut street, Cottage street, Smith avenue, Ardmore road, Ardmore terrace, Allerton road, and Centre street, $12,334 authorized for purchase of sewer materials and $3200 for water construction supplies, water mains laid in Davis avenue, Fair Oaks avenue, Harding street, Mountfort road, and water mains without the usual guaranty in Auburndale avenue, Dalby street, Gardner street and Clyde street, $66.34 voted for pensions to Patrick Madden and Thomas Vignoles, $8.00 per month Soldiers relief granted Abbie L. Anderson, the pay of election officers was established as last year, polling places designated for the state primary, Sept. 23, a hearing ordered June 30 on establishing the tax limit for the city, settlement authorized with the Boston & Worcester St. Rwy. Co. on account of deposit made for construction of Boylston street, and the Forest Commissioner was granted $800 for purchase of an automobile. The Finance committee submitted a report from the Chief of Police relative to the use of Newton Police at Hopedale, in which it appeared the city answered a requisition made for the election of Hopedale, under the statutes and that some of the men were taking their summer vacations in this manner. The same committee also submitted the opinion of the city solicitor that Michael Cannon was receiving as large a pension as the statute authorized. The report of the Public Works committee that it was inexpedient to make a serial bond issue of $215,000 for street improvements as recommended by the mayor was accepted without debate.

A long discussion followed the attempt of Alderman Rice to defeat the recommendation of the Public Works committee refusing to lay out Windemere road and Chesley road and to lay concrete sidewalks on Windemere road, all under the betterment act. The alderman also opposed a similar recommendation on the matter of drainage of swamp land near Ballard street. In the absence of Alderman Barker, chairman of the committee, the other members were reluctant to make explanations, but under the sharp criticisms of Alderman Rice, they were spurred into the open and nearly every member of the board took part in the ensuing debate. The committee opposed these petitions because it believed the city had gone far enough in laying out streets under the betterment act, and that it was time to call a halt. On the streets in question the abutters were few in number and ought to pay for putting the street in condition for acceptance, before coming to the city at all. On the drainage of swamp land, it appeared this work would involve the elimination of a pond on a large private estate with possible heavy land damages as a result. A motion to recommitt these various items was defeated by a tie vote and the committee was later sustained. Leave to withdraw was also voted on street sprinkling on Nonantum street, for sewer in Adams avenue, concrete sidewalk on Woodbine street and on petitions of Sarah F. Ivy and Eliza D. Howard relative to sewer assessments on Fairmont avenue.

EIGHTH GRADE ENTERTAINMENT

A program of varied excellence was presented Monday afternoon by members of the VIII grade at the Clifton School, consisting of school exercises, musical selections and the play "Evangeline," the cast including members of the class.

The role of "Evangeline" was admirably portrayed by Miss Marjorie Chellis, and John B. Starkweather as "Gabriel," and Clarence Wyatt as "Benedict," were equally good.

Charles Clarke Macomber as "Basil" made a decided "hit," and Miss Gwendolyn Montague as "Father Felician" was one of the best in the cast.

Sidney Gardner as "Notary," Robert Reno as "Deputy," Herbert Hovenden as "Doctor," and Albert Gera as "Commander of the British," all performed their various roles very creditably.

Herbert Hicks, Maxwell Patterson, Albert Hunt, and James Scott, appeared in the role of soldiers, and the sailors were Herbert Hovenden, Andrew Leonard and Kenneth Lynde. The "Arcadians" were represented by the class. There was a large attendance of parents and friends and the entertainment closed with dancing.

POLICE NOTES

For conducting a liquor nuisance, Mrs. Susan C. Ashford of 11 West street, Nonantum, whose premises were raided last Sunday morning, was fined $75 in the police court yesterday morning by Judge Kennedy. Testimony was produced by Liquor Officer Richard J. Goode to show that the woman in conducting the liquor business used three baby carriages, in carting the liquor from house to house.

For the past two months numerous complaints have been made to police headquarters about the alleged liquor business that was being conducted by Mrs. Ashford, and Liquor Officer Richard J. Goode has spent a great deal of time in obtaining evidence. Sunday afternoon, with the aid of two other officers, he raided the house and seized 18 bottles of ale and beer.

Government witnesses testified to having seen their mothers enter the Ashford home sober and come out a short time later in an intoxicated condition with a bottle of liquor wrapped up in newspapers under their arms.

Patrolmen Condrin and McAleer, who assisted Officer Goode in making the raid, testified as to the means Mrs. Ashford used in transporting the liquor. It appears that baby carriages with a small box on the back or under the seat were used. The officers testified that whenever the woman went into a house she would take the carriage in with her and in many cases had carried it up a flight of stairs.

Judge Kennedy in imposing the fine said that had it not been for the young child that was depending upon its mother he would have given her a long prison term. Her attorneys made an unsuccessful attempt to have the fine reduced, but finally paid $50 and were given a week in which to pay the other $25.

41 SUMMER ST. BOSTON

A FAIRY STORY

I was sitting on a hillside several days ago, when suddenly everybody was quiet for we saw coming from the woods, fairies, dancing so happily and prettily, just as fairies do when they are going to make somebody happy and I thought then "wouldn't the little boys and girls who have to stay in the city all the summer think that a lovely sight and how much they would enjoy sitting there in that cool green grass in the shade, with trees and flowers all about and watch these fairies come dancing toward the king and queen on the throne—and many other girls were dancing, too, although they did not look like fairies, but they could really do just as kind things for people as the fairies.

Just the day before I looked from a store window in Boston and saw a tiny curly headed boy hammering on an empty cigar box. He was all alone sitting on the very edge of the sidewalk and it seemed every minute as though an auto or electric car would surely run over his toes—surely he was the only place outside his home for him to play in and they are so hot and dirty. How I wish a fairy could take that cunning little fellow and some of his friends out to some place where there are trees, grass and flowers and wouldn't it be fine if their mothers could go too and take the babies. There would be hammocks and swings, a great large place to play in, plenty of good food, and perhaps a whole bed for each one instead of three or four in a bed as at home, and the nights get cool after a hot day as they many times don't in the city.

Just think of it! A house to keep them well and a doctor ready to come if he is needed. All of this for nothing, too.

There is a place like that with a house just waiting for some fairies to send the mothers and children to have a two weeks' rest and good time. And do you know that people send their autos there to give them a ride and sometimes they send ice cream and cake which must make it seem quite near fairyland, ice cream. Why, think of it, when they would have had just bread and tea at home.

Why, I almost think that I like the real live fairies that really do kind things for people better than the kind I read about when you just read that they do the things.

Now what can these real Newton fairies do to help so many hot, tired Boston mothers and their littles children have a vacation of two weeks this summer, for of course no fairy could have as happy a time in her own vacation as she could if she'd helped some other children to have theirs. So do send some pennies or do send some dollars and ask mother to join this fairy association for two dollars or more.

She may join if she lives in any part of this big Newton City. There are twenty-one mothers there now with their little children and some day you drive out to the Mothers' Rest at Needham Heights and see if what I have told you is not a true fairy story. Mrs. F. S. Risteen, 9 Moreland avenue, Newton Centre, receives checks made payable to the Mothers' Rest Association.

BLACK—CONNOR

The wedding of Miss Nellie Alline Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Connor of Salem, and Charles Herbert Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fred Black of Newton, took place June 18 at 43 Pennsylvania avenue, Somerville. Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, Newton, performed the ceremony at 7:30 P. M., using the double ring service. W. Russell Black, a brother of the groom, was the best man. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Elsie May Walker as maid of honor. The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Elsie May Walker, the maid of honor, wore a gown of blue crepe-de-chine and carried a bouquet of red roses. Following the ceremony there was a reception, the couple receiving under an arch of bride's roses. The rest of the house was adorned with American beauty roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond necklace and there were many other valuable gifts, chief among which was a beautiful piano a gift from the parents of the bride and a handsome oak dining room set from the parents of the groom. There was also many gifts of cut glass vases, etc., silverware, napkins, tablecloths and pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Black will visit an uncle at Niagara Falls, N. Y., then down the St. Lawrence to Montreal and other notable places in that vicinity. After this they will visit relatives in Alburgh, Vt., finally returning to 43 Pennsylvania avenue, Somerville, where they will be at home to friends after July 15.

WATERS—ENGLISH

The marriage of Mr. William Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waters of Clinton place, and Miss Mary E. English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. English, took place yesterday morning at the Church of the Sacred Heart. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Waters, a brother of the groom, and the mass was sung by the Rev. Father Vachon, a relative of the bride. Mr. David B. Waters, brother of the groom, was the best man, and Miss Mary Riordan, cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid. A bridal breakfast was given at the English home at which almost 100 guests sat down. After an extended honeymoon to New York, the young couple will reside at their home on Centre street.

OUTINGS FOR POOR BOYS

The following appeal has been made to the citizens of Newton to benefit boys from Boston during the hot summer months and a good number of friends have responded.

Newton people are privileged to spend the summer at the beach or in the mountains. The poor in Boston depend upon the generosity of friends for their outings. It is hoped that many will respond.

The first group of boys that will be given an outing will be from the Italian district around North street. Some other groups will be given an outing during the summer months.

The fine equipment at the Y. M. C. A., the athletic field, swimming pool, gymnasium, game room and a big lunch with ice cream gives an opportunity for enjoyment that has never been equalled in the lives of a large number of boys.

The following letter has been sent to friends who made the outings possible last year. It is hoped that many others will respond this year.

Dear Friend:—

You are one of the many friends of poor boys who gave toward an outing for 300 boys at the Y. M. C. A. last summer. There were so many expressions of appreciation of the hospitality of Newton people from the leaders of the boys, and so many of the boys hoped that they would be allowed to come again, that it has been decided to continue the outings this summer.

One dollar will pay the entire expense of three boys for an all day outing during the hot months of July and August. The boys have a good car, a baseball game or other outdoor sports, a long swim, a lunch and full use of the games in the building.

Newton Royal Arch Chapter Closes Banner Year

On retiring from the office of high priest of Newton R. A. Chapter, Tuesday, William H. Bliss closed the most progressive term in the history of the Chapter organization. Its membership of 493 has been attained as the result of there having been exalted the past 12 months, 45, to which were added another 10 by affiliation, while three were lost by death. As a material expression of what words could not indicate, he was presented a past high priest's jewel, Rev. Harry Lutz officiating.

ing for the chapter, and when invested with the emblem the chapter had then present the senior and junior of those living to receive that attention, as Past High Priest James B. Fuller, who presided in 1875, was in attendance. The reception of gifts did not stop there, as Charles E. Fogg, in behalf of last year's officers, gave Past High Priest Bliss an apron appropriate to his new rank. This makes the third testimonial for him from chapter friends, as he has now at his home a large punch bowl, likewise an attention from officers.

George A. Miller was elected as the 33d high priest of the chapter, and in the choice of Past High Priest Binney for treasurer it made his 24th consecutive term. The installation was conducted by Past High Priest Geo. G. Davidson, with Past High Priest Bin-

there was any "trade" or any thing which can be so construed.

4. Why did the Legislature insist on passing the "financial sections" as part of a general bill, and what good reasons are there for not making two separate legislative measures of the proposition?

So far as the majority of the Railroad Committee was concerned they inserted the "financial sections" in the bill because they belonged there. On principle and precedent they are legitimately a part of the bill and it heartily agrees with the Chairman of the Railroad Commission, that they are the most essential part of it.

Public Service corporations with mandatory powers have been in existence but few years in any State, but in nearly all where they have been created provision has been made for financial control as well as control of rates and facilities. The statutory provisions in regard to the regulation of bond issues are contained in the special acts creating the public service or other similar commissions in New York, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maryland, Ohio, Kansas, Indiana and California. As Governor Hughes is understood to have had a large hand in drafting the law for New York, I wonder what sort of a "trade" he made with the corporations.

As to why we did not make two separate bills—I have never yet seen any reason advanced why we should have done so. Assertion is not argument and however often repeated in the columns of newspapers has little weight with some of us until good reasons may be given. These I have never seen.

5. If not already answered, explain the opposition of Savings Banks and the Bank Commissioner to the financial features of the bill.

It is true that there was opposition on the part of some of our Savings Banks, but it is equally true that many of our largest Banks were heartily in favor of the bill and when its full import was understood there was I think little opposition on the part of any.

It is my opinion that the opposition of the Bank Commissioner was due to lack of sufficient information, for on May 23, long after the bill had been publicly discussed, questions were asked of him by members of Senate Ways and Means Committee and answers given as follows—

Question. Isn't it true at the present time that the banks holding New Haven bonds have no protection from the Railroad Commission, in so far as that the railroad can issue further or additional bonds?

Answer. I cannot answer that question.

Question. Assuming that to be true, would not this bill give more protection to the holders of bonds?

Answer. Not having studied the railroad statutes, I would not want to answer that question offhand.

As against the present Bank Commissioner, we have the opinion of Ex-Chairman of Railroad Commission Chapin as follows—"Savings Banks buy such bonds (they cannot hold stocks) to hold until due and not to sell, so that their main interest is to see the railroad properties made so valuable by giving the best service at the minimum cost that they can command the highest credit. In the present situation they cannot meet the public demands without modified legislation. Four legislatures have recognized the problem but have not furnished the remedy. I believe the proposed sections will benefit the property of the railroads so that their securities held by Savings Banks will be more valuable than they are today."

As to the provision of Section 16 above referred to we have the opinion of Ex-Chairman of Railroad Commission, Jas. F. Jackson as follows—"I cannot endorse too highly the amendment which will compel the railroad management hereafter to submit to the board of railroad commissioners for approval all issues of stock and bonds which it proposes to make for general corporate purposes. This carries into effect the suggestion made by the Supreme Judicial Court as to the extent to which state regulation can be carried."

I have tried to answer your questions as briefly as possible. I trust I have answered them intelligently. There is much more could be said, but space will not permit.

Yours very truly,
GEO. H. ELLIS.

THOMPSON—PARKER

Edgar Park, pastor of the West Newton Congregational Church, the wedding march being played by Mrs. Charles Atwater and sung by the Misses Eva and Gladys Sanderson.

Miss Lillian Parker, the maid of honor, was in blue messaline trimmed with ecru shadow lace and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Mr. John Munroe of Brighton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Wesley J. Furbush of West Newton, Henry Thompson, Jacob Taylor and Calvin Weyer of Brighton.

CENTRAL CHURCH WINS

Baseball and Strawberries at Newtonville on June 17th

The game of baseball, Tuesday afternoon on Claffin Field between teams representing the Central and Newtonville Methodist Churches, was some game, and many who came to scoff, remained to praise. While Central won by the score of 4 to 0, all its runs were unearned, and were due to over anxiety on the part of their opponents. The pitching was first class in every respect, Waldron and Clay having 13 strikeouts apiece, the former having the better record as Clay walked four men, one base on balls being responsible for one of the runs.

The nines were a curious mixture of recent High School players, former college players and some who were neither, and all sorts of baseball costumes were in evidence. Both nines had their friends on the benches, and they were encouraged by cheers at the physiological moments.

Central made one lone hit, which brought in two runs, by the way, while Methodist touched Waldron for two singles and a double, but he kept them nicely scattered, and therefore harmless.

It looked like Methodist at the start, for the second man up started things with a single to left, stole second and third, but was left by the other two men striking out. The first three men up for Central in this inning meekly struck out, being utterly unable to fathom Clay's pitching. Methodist went out in one, two three order until the eighth, which Hyslop started with another fine single, only to be left on base, the other men flying out. In the ninth, Clay sent a hot one thru short and left field, reaching second base, where he remained for the rest of the inning.

Central scored two runs in the sixth inning, when with two out, Waldron was given his base on balls. Mitchell, who followed, sent a weak hit to third, which was fumbled, and thrown two feet out of reach of Perry at first base. Perry retaliated by throwing the ball way over the head of Taylor at third, in an attempt to cut off Waldron, and both Waldron and Mitchell scored on this bit of foolishness. Two more runs followed in the seventh, when, with one down, Byers' hit was fumbled by second, and the stole second. McAllister fled out to short, and Savor, who followed, was given a chance by a fumble by shortstop, and both came way home on Beal's fine single to center field.

Percy Williams and Dr. Donald Hunt were the umpires.

Central was represented by McAllister, c.; Savor, 2b.; Beal, 3b.; Patey, ss.; Waldron, p.; Mitchell, 1b.; Lyon, 1b.; Briggs, cf.; Byers, rf. Methodist by Carter, rf.; Hartford, cf.; Perry, 1b.; H. Hyslop, ss.; N. Hyslop, 2b.; McCullough, Taylor, 3b.; N. Hyslop, 1b.; Clay, p.

The "Strawberry Feast" given by the members of the Central Club Tuesday evening at the close of the ball game, was a very successful and enjoyable affair.

The parlors of Central Church were entirely filled with a merry company numbering about 200. Ice-cream, cake and strawberries were served at small tables which were very attractively decorated for the occasion with June roses, and the young ladies of the Central Guild acted as servers.

The arrival of the Methodist boys of the opposing team, occasioned much merriment and they were made the guests of honor, and served at a large table in the centre of the room.

The supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, and Mrs. Fred E. Mann, assisted by a committee of ladies including Mrs. W. E. Strong, Mrs. Albert M. Lyon, Mrs. Walter T. Kelley, Mrs. E. C. Wyatt, Mrs. H. W. Sly, Mrs. William Price, Mrs. Edward W. Greene and Miss Hayward. The floral decorations were in charge of Mrs. John W. Byers.

To acquaint the public with some of the Library's little-known possessions it may be well briefly to describe two which are unusual in the matter of illustration.

"Moths and Butterflies of the United States East of the Rocky Mountains" is by Sherman F. Denton, one of that Wellesley family which has done so much to arouse enthusiasm for nature knowledge in general and butterflies in particular. "As Nature Shows them," the words at the head of the title page, precisely describe the beautiful manner of illustrating the species noted. By a delicate process perfected by Mr. Denton the wing covering is transferred to paper, the upper and under surfaces of each specimen being shown. Thus the illustrations are not pictures merely, but actual specimens of great beauty, having the color and sheen of the living insect. In preparing this edition, which is of course limited, Mr. Denton made over fifty thousand transfers from life.

"The American Woods, exhibited by Actual Specimens" is a work in twelve parts, by Romyn B. Hough. Three hundred timber trees of the United States are identified and described, and each species is illustrated by an accompanying card displaying three sections of the wood, cut in three different planes. These sections are thin, translucent slices, showing the color and grain of the wood and offering an excellent opportunity to observe and study our native timbers.

NORUMBEGA PARK

All the charming features of this beautiful recreation spot are in full splendor. Especially interesting to the lover of nature are the baby mountain lions, the baby elk and the baby monkey, which make such a fine addition to the largest zoological garden in the east.

The new merry-go-round is proving very busy, while canoeing and boating on the Charles was never so pleasing. To dine in the Grape Arbor Cafe satisfies both the inner man as well as the craving for that which is artistic.

MR. GORHAM DEAD

Former Chairman of School Committee Dies Suddenly

The many friends of Mr. Robert S. Gorham were greatly shocked to learn of his sudden death early Wednesday morning at his new home on Brattle street, Cambridge. Mr. Gorham attended the spread given by his son, Mr. Thomas Gorham, one of the seniors this year at Harvard, and with Mrs. Gorham returned home about ten o'clock Tuesday night. At 2:30 Wednesday morning, the family were awakened by his groaning, and he died before a physician could be summoned.

Mr. Gorham was born in Champlain, N. Y., on June 28, 1853, and was therefore nearly fifty years old. He attended the public schools there. He then entered Harvard University and after graduating studied at the Harvard Law

THE LATE ROBERT S. GORHAM

School, from which he was graduated in the class of 1888. He entered the employ of the law firm of Ropes & Gray and was finally admitted to partnership and the firm has since been known as Ropes, Gray & Gorham, occupying offices at 60 State street.

A score of years ago Mr. Gorham took up his residence at 125 Prince street, West Newton, where he was known as a public spirited citizen. In 1903 he became chairman of the Newton school committee and held the office several years. Last December he removed to Cambridge. For the past month his health was such that he remained away from business but his condition was not thought to be serious.

He returned only a few days ago from a pleasure and health trip, trout fishing in Canada.

His wife and son survive him. Mr. Gorham was a former secretary of the Suffolk Bar Association and also held membership in the Brae-Burn Country Club of West Newton, the Oakley Country Club, of Belmont, and the Exchange Club, Boston.

Funeral services will be held from the West Newton Unitarian Church tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock.

EDITORIAL

The matter of acceptance of streets is of considerable interest at this time judging by the debate last Monday night by the aldermen. It has been the policy of the city for many years to require land owners and abutters who wish streets opened up and made public, to build them to fit certain specifications as to construction and width, and present them to the city for acceptance free of expense, other than that resulting from making necessary drainage connections. Where the abutters are unable to get together, either by reason of residence in other localities or by opposition to the proposed improvement, the city has occasionally laid the street out under the betterment act, and subsequently levied assessments to reimburse itself for the outlay. This method involves the making of an appropriation by the city in the first instance, and with a possibility of delay in collecting assessments, by reason of apportion-ments for ten years. During the past two or three years, the city government has acted more frequently under the betterment act, and at the present time has involved itself in an expenditure of nearly $10,000 in this direction, an expense, which if made a direct charge to the current tax levy, as has been the custom in the past, is a heavy burden on the taxpayer of the present year, for the betterments are not received until some years after completion of the work.

In my opinion, the city fathers should move slowly in this direction, and not proceed under the betterment act, except in such cases where there are a large number of abutters, or where a public improvement is being blocked by the unreasonable attitude of one or more persons. The alternative, of course, might be to provide for paying the cost of laying out of new streets by issuing serial bonds, the bonds received, paying for the bonds as they mature. In no case, however, do I believe that tax payers of any one year should pay for this class of work.

GAL. EIGHT.. 125,500.00 (11 adn 93n)
The plan to let the city quarry on Lowell avenue ought to provide for the continued excellent development of the property in that vicinity. Desirable residents are not attracted to a neighborhood, where blasting is liable to smash windows and throw pictures from the walls.

These are the days of June roses, brides and graduates, the reader to change the order to suit his or her own idea of the relative importance.

As this city has always been well within the former legal tax limit of $12.00 per thousand for city expenses, the hearing ordered for June 30th ought to be a mere form.

THIRTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ROYAL ARCADE

The members of the four Councils of the Royal Arcanum, of Newton, Channing, 76, of Newton; Triton, 547,
of West Newton; Echo Bridge, 843, of Newton Upper Falls; Mt. Ida, 1247, of Newtonville will on Monday evening, June 23rd, unite in celebrating, with their families, the 36th anniversary of the organization of the Royal Arcanum, in Dennison Hall, Newburyville.

The Royal Arcanum was organized in Boston on June 23, 1877, with nine members present. It has now a membership of more than 251,000, and during the 36 years of its existence has paid more than $157,000,000.00 to the beneficiaries of 60,000 deceased members, disbursing now about $8,000, 000.00 per annum, besides disbursing in its fraternal and charitable work in its local Councils, of which there are 1943 throughout the United States and Canada, the sum of about $100, 000.00 each year.

The amendment to its laws in 1912, permitting the admission of young men between 18 and 21 years of age, has proved a popular one, and many young men are seeking membership.

The occasion promises to be an unusually interesting one. The exercises are under charge of the Entertainment Committee of Mt. Ida Council, of which C. H. Milliken, Orator of Mt. Ida Council, is Chairman. Past Grand Regent Alonzo C. Walsh, of Lowell, will be the speaker of the evening, and Miss Roseth A. Knapp, Humorous Reader, who delighted an

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The last week of John Craig's fifth season at the Castle Square will begin on Monday with a revival of Charles H.
Hoyt's masterpiece of musical farce comedy, "A Trip to Chinatown." With its clever medley of comedy, singing, dancing and variety, including much new and topical material, it will provide excellent entertainment for Mr.
Craig's closing week. It is productive of laughter from beginning to end. The plot of course is of minor consideration, the dialogue is crisp and sparkling, the situations continuously novel and amusing, and the music of a lively up to date character. All these features, and many others, make "A Trip to Chinatown" one of the breeziest of Hoyt's many plays, and the best of productions for the entertainment of a summer audience.

PEIRCE SCHOOL ENTERTAINS

The senior class at the Peirce School, West Newton, gave its annual reception last evening to parents and friends and the school hall was completely filled.

The children acted as ushers and presented their parents to the corps of teachers. The more formal exercises included an address of welcome by the principal, Mr. C. R. Reed, with singing by the graduating class of 76 members, piano selections by Mildred Colby and Olivia Cate, a duet for piano and cello by Harold Cutter and Ralph Blanchard, followed by a prize speaking contest for the boys and a prize reading contest by the girls, there being six entries in each event.

The judges were Mrs. Adeline A. Davidson and Mr. A. M. Lyon of the school committee, Miss Thrasher of Waban, and Messrs. F. J. Fessenden and H. P. Patey of Newtonville. Mayor Hatfield presided. The girls contest consisted of reading at sight, and was won by Caroline Hoar, with honorable mention to Mildred Lovejoy.

The boys speaking contest was won by George Parlin with honorable mention to Clifford Meekins.

The class gift of a state flag was presented to the school by Henry Garrity, while Captain Kirk of the base ball team, presented the champion shield which his team has just won.

The girls of the graduating class also presented Miss Ring, one of the teachers with a basket of flowers.
Diplomas to the graduating class were given out this morning.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—The famous "Meistersingers" of Boston, composed of the Harvard, Schubert produced, will commence their third annual summer engagement at B. F.

Keith's Theatre on Monday afternoon,
June 23rd. This year the Meistersingers will be seen in an entirely new and different kind of production from previous seasons. Surrounding this great feature will be an excellent vaudeville bill. The Three Mori Brothers, wonderful Japanese barrel jugglers, have a most amusing turn with a strong element of comedy; Frank Rae and company have a new and very funny comedy sketch; The Eight English Rosebuds are England's greatest terpsichorean specialties; Leo and Hussey are a pair of newcomers with something good; Daniels and Conrad are another new team of entertainers;
Leon Stephens was formerly with Eddie Foy in "Over the River"; Sam-

Gentlemen:
About October 1st, 1911, purchased a two-wheel one-ton truck of the Blair Manufacturing Co., and up to the pre-writing have never regretted
We have found the truck exactly to all that was claimed for and are more than pleased with the worm drive proposition, all who have had experience with trucks realize that a chain drive is a noisy and propulsion.

Before purchasing said truck we had given the subject of a thorough investigation.
point that appealed to us strongly in the Blair Truck the fact that it has more load-space in front of the rear wheel than any truck we found on market. Another strong point in our judgment, is the fact it has two frames, that the housing has its own individ-frame. A recent experience ours proved this to be, in judgment, the proper way to construct a truck.

The Blair Manufacturing
also have a way of living up their word that cannot help appeal to anyone who is in market for a truck. Yours

Many Newton Residents to Attend the International Religious Conference at Paris

A party of 150 delegates, including about thirty residents of Newton, will sail next Tuesday, July 1, on the Teutonic from Montreal and the Arable from Boston, for England and the Continent of Europe to attend the Sixth International Congress of Free and Progressive Christians and other Religious Liberals, to be held at Paris, July 16-22.

This Congress was organized at Boston in 1900. Its purpose is "to open communication with those in all lands who are striving to unite pure religion and perfect liberty, and to increase fellowship and co-operation among them." It aims to bring into closer union for exchange of ideas, mutual service, and the promotion of their common aims the historic liberal churches, the liberal elements in all churches, scattered liberal congregations, and isolated workers for religious freedom and progress in many lands. Some one hundred religious associations in twenty-five countries of the world are now affiliated with the Congress, send official delegates to its meetings, and make it the international organ of their fraternal relations with each other. Its congresses have been held at London, Amsterdam, Geneva, Boston and Berlin, and its proceedings and papers have been published in five volumes.

The organizer of the meetings at Paris, which will be held in the halls of the National Horticultural Society, rue de Grenelle, is Rev. Charles W. Wendte, D.D., of Newton, foreign secretary of the American Unitarian Association, who since its inception in 1900 has been the general secretary of the Congress.

The main party of delegates will leave the North Station, Boston, Monday, June 30, at 10 A. M. for Montreal, going on board the steamer the same night and spending a few hours in Quebec on Tuesday. The Newton members of this party are as follows:

Miss Marion D. Bassett, Newtonville. Miss Ethel Bowman, Auburndale. Miss Ruth S. Brackett, Newton. Mr. Frank H. Burt, Newton, official reporter of the Congress. Miss Phyllis B. Caldwell, Newton. Miss Anna B. Carter, West Newton. Miss Annie F. Darling, Newton. Mrs. Emma H. Hammett, Newton. Mrs. Caroline W. Helzer, Newton. Rev. Arthur M. Knapp, West Newton.

Miss Ayame M. Knapp, West Newton. Miss Hope R. Mudge, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Stone, Newton. Miss Marion Stone (Smith, 1912), Newton.

Miss Katharine L. Stone, Newton. Mrs. George H. Talbot, Newtonville. Miss Marjorie Talbot, Newtonville. Miss Helen L. Wells, Newton. Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Wendte, Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wetherbee, Newton. With this party will be Mrs. John D. Barrows, formerly of this city but now of Brattleboro, Vt.

In the party sailing on the Arable Tuesday, to join the other delegates at London, will be Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher, Newton.

Miss Edith R. Fisher (Smith, 1912), Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, Newton.

At Liverpool, where the Teutonic is due Tuesday, July 8, the American visitors will be guests of Sir William and Lady Bowring, at a garden party, while the Unitarian churches of the city will unite in a reception to the visitors in the evening.

After a short trip into Scotland the party will reach London Saturday, July 12, where they will remain until the next Wednesday. On Monday, July 14, Mr. Ronald P. Jones, president of the Laymen's Club has invited them to meet the members of the club at dinner at the Royal Automobile Club, Pall Mall, while Sir Edwin and Lady Durning-Lawrence will open their beautiful residence to the visitors on one of the afternoons of their stay. The party leave London for Paris Wednesday, the 16th, accompanied by a large company of English Unitarians.

The Paris meetings will be under the presidency of the eminent French philosopher and member of the Institute, Professor Emile Boutroux. Pastor Charles Wagner of Paris, so well known as a preacher and author, is vice president of the congress. There is a long list of honorary vice presidents, representing many different nations, among whom may be mentioned Professors Adolf Harnack, Paul Sabatier, Allan Menzies, and H. Schmiedel, Canons Cheyne and A. L. Lilley, Revs. Stopford Brooke and R. J. Campbell, Dean Charles R. Brown, Professors E. C. Moore and Daniel Evans, Rabbi Kaufman Kohler, Claude Montefiore, Rabindranath Tagore, Abdul Baha and others.

Eminent speakers will be heard on themes of vital interest, among them Professor Rudolf Eucken and Henri Bergson, who are to treat of the mutual relations of philosophy and religion; Professors Rudolf Otto of Goettingen, Count Goblet d'Alviella of Brussels, and several Oriental scholars, who are to discuss the question of a universal religion; Rev. Charles F. Dole, Rev. S. A. Elliot, Dr. Lee S. McCollister and Elmer S. Forbes of Boston, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, and Professor J. Estlin Carpenter of Oxford, on topics of scholarly and human interest.

An interesting feature of the Congress will be its Modernist aspect. A dozen prominent representatives of this phase of opinion in Roman Catholic circles will participate, among them Miss Maude Petre, the biographer of Father Tyrell, Professor Joseph Schiltz of Munich, Rev. William Sullivan of New York, Don Romolo Murri of Rome, Professor Angelo Crespi of Florence, Professor Paul Sabatier of France, Professors Caudellier of Brussels and Van Heen of Holland and the Old Catholic Dean Michael de Berne.

Other topics are: "The Social Ideals of Free Christianity"; "The Relations Between Christians and Non-Christians," by European and Oriental speakers; and "Universal Peace and International Good Will," by David Starr Jordan, Rev. Charles Wagner and German and French speakers. The last-named question will be dealt with at the church of Pastor Wagner on Sunday evening, July 20.

MR. WASHBURN REPLIES

Interesting Letter On the New Railroad Law

The following letter from Representative Robert M. Washburn of Worcester, explains itself:

The Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass.

Dear Sirs: I have read with interest the marked article in your paper which you sent me. It was my intention at first simply to digest Mr. Ellis's letter, but I have always had a feeling that the world would be even a drearier place than it is without controversy, and so I am commenting upon it with some freedom. Mr. Ellis and I, so far as I know, are still good personal friends, and I know that he will not take any exception to my writing with reference to this matter with the same freedom with which he talked upon the floor of the House. The bill, if misnamed, is so named because many differ with Mr. Ellis, and feel that the mandatory part of the bill is of more importance than the so-called financial sections. The bill is called "The Washburn Bill" for the reason, if I may say so modestly, that I was the first man in Massachusetts to advocate giving to the Railroad Commissioners the order power over rates and facilities as contrasted with the recommendationary power which they had hitherto enjoyed. The financial sections I strenuously opposed, and for which I have been heatedly attacked by your representative, and for inconsistency, I did take me some time to leave these sections, and my cause for leaving them was the revelation before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and I felt it a folly to endorse the further and easier raising of money on the part of the New Haven Railroad until the question raised before that Commission, "Is their business management wise?" had been adjudicated. On the ground of inconsistency, Mr. Ellis should be one of the last men in the Legislature to criticize me, because the mandatory principle, which he now endorses, he opposed during the 1912 session of the Legislature by his formal dissent to the report of the bill by the committee, changing his attitude later. On the question of his railroad judgment in general, he ought rather to be slow to attack me with the violence that he has shown, because, as chairman of the Railroad committee, he endorsed the Grand Trunk proposition which has come to be recognized as one of the most splendid legislative fizzes that this State has seen, and to which I took exception. I am particularly interested by his answer to your question, three, as to whether there was any basis for the assertion, that, with reference to this legislation, there was a trade between the railroads and the state. On this proposition I again differ with Mr. Ellis at the risk of again plunging him into the state of mind which he showed when I enunciated these views upon the floor of the House, and a state of mind which I have rarely seen equalled in the Legislature, and I again venture to state what I conceive to be facts. It is the legislative policy of the railroad corporations, when it appears that, in response to the popular demand, law is to be enacted, to use the passage of that law as a conduit to carry through legislation which they desire. This was seen in the Grand Trunk bill of 1912, when Mr. Ellis reported, in a loosening up of the bond issues laws and making it easier for

AN APPRECIATION

A Tender Tribute to the Late Robert S. Gorham

Many, last Saturday afternoon, must have noted the coincidence of the Newton High School graduation exercises and the funeral services of the late Robert S. Gorham; the happy day for the pupils of a school he loved and for which he labored and the sad day for his friends and neighbors. The mayor, in his brief address to the graduating class referred most feelingly and fittingly to Mr. Gorham's great services to our schools as well as paying a beautiful tribute to his worth as a man.

Few, however, even among those connected with the school and few among his best friends, realized that to his suggestion and initiative the school was indebted for its fine playground, that Claffin Field, the usefulness of which becomes more apparent year by year.

A friend now tells, and it seems appropriate that the story should be repeated here, of Mr. Gorham's asking him one lovely Sunday morning in June to forego church and walk with him to Newtonville. On the way, Mr. Gorham explained his purpose to select a suitable parcel of land for a high school playground which, he hoped, might be purchased through the cooperation of public-spirited citizens. His clear vision had not only seen the need, but his active and efficient mind already had outlined the plan of action.

Carefully all available sites were examined that morning, choice falling on the present Claffin Field. He had but to lay the matter, in his sincere and convincing way, before the right men and the project was launched and carried to a successful conclusion.

This is only one incident in many that might be cited to show his public spirit, his love for Newton, his willingness to use his great talents for the good of the community. To one who knew West Newton, the gathering at the Unitarian church last Saturday afternoon told a story of bereavement and loss peculiarly touching. The faces of men and women showed more than grief at the passing of a dear friend, an esteemed neighbor, a distinguished lawyer. The sure counselor, the helpful, hopeful, man who had guided them through difficulties, made straight the path of the widow, taken on his own shoulders the burden of the harassed business man, had gone. One of the props of life had been removed.

And how generous he was of his time, his sympathy, his wisdom, only those who had appealed to him, in season and out of season, ever knew. In him were joined a great heart, and a remarkably keen, trained intellect; he had wisdom, as well as knowledge; a rare faculty for getting at the heart of a matter; a courage that never shrank from a positive position. He was one of those men, far too rare, who think honestly; integrity and a scorn for the devious, the sharp, the tricky, was bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh.

Withal, his was the simplest and sunniest of dispositions, very human, very lovable. A keen sense of humor was one of his most noticeable characteristics and he generally had a good and appropriate anecdote with which to drive home an argument. Even such a prosaic thing as instructions to workers in a campaign for playground funds would be brightened by a flash of wit, as when he headed such a paper with the words "Rules for approaching the green."

NEWTON CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, after which essays on "Modern Conservatism" and "The Gift of Things" were read by Shepard F. Williams and Helen M. Eustie. A vocal solo was rendered by James H. Townsend, and an appreciation of Browning's "A Toccata of Galluppi's" by Eva M. Sadler. The class oration on "Cooperation Between Parents and Teachers" was given by the class orator, Malcolm C. Brock.

Miss Nirlam C. Herron played a violin solo, the class history was given by Charlotte Bruner; C. Azel Collins sang two tenor solos, after which the valedictory on "The Advantages of a High School Education" was given by Ernest M. Clark.

The May prize, consisting of a $250 scholarship to Technology, which must be given to a boy not in wealthy circumstances for the best all-around excellence, was awarded to Arthur K. Atkins.

The Eliot prizes for the best historical essays were awarded to Gordon Van Kirk, first, and Miss Beulah French, second, for High School pupils. The Eliot prizes for grammar school pupils were awarded to Helen Reitema, first, Chester H. Whelden, Jr., second, and Phyllis R. Calkins, honorable mention, all of the Bigelow school.

Following the presentation of diplomas, the class hymn, the words of which were written by Erik Achorn and the music by Edith L. Thomas, was sung.

We cannot help the feeling that he left us too soon; that we needed him for many years more. But short as was the span of his life, he lived; lived broadly, vitally, usefully; and so he lives today in our hearts and grateful memories.

THE DUST and DIRT PROBLEM SOLVED BY

Cleans, Brightens and Preserves Finish on Floors, Furniture and Woodwork.

Water ruins any finish used on floors. The dry mop rubs up the dust, but only partly removes it. Aromatic Mist is a liquid compound used in vapor form, one minute use of an Atomizer so simple that a child can handle it, spreads a vapor over the floor, which cleans and brightens the floor, and prevents the least particle from coming back.

With a few strokes of a dry mop the dust is quickly gathered leaving the floor sparkling clean, and highly polished.

FLIES, MOTHS, ROACHES and INSECTS will not remain in the house where Aromatic Mist is in general use. It is a use has been adopted by nearly all the prominent Hotels, Clubs, Hospitals, Private Schools, as well as thousands of the modern homes in Boston and New England.

Swatting the Fly in Korea.

Flies are the staple product of all parts of Chosen and make life miserable for the Japanese residing there. Flies are a well known to be medicinal for the spread of epidemics. Last year the authorities of Chosen-do offered to buy flies, and, encouraged by their success, they will repeat the experiment this year. Last year the police were asked to take the trouble of buying flies with money supplied by philanthropic contributors and 4,668 koku (one koku is equal to 5.13 bushels) of flies were bought from May 26 to December 2 for 212.97 yen. This year 5,668 koku have already been bought for 268 yen at three to four sen a go. Local taxes were appropriated for a portion of the expense required. The flies are burned on being purchased. Rats are valued at three sen a head on the mainland, but flies have never been known to exist in such immense masses before as to acquire monetary value.—Japan Weekly Mail.

Lawyers and Their Work.

The profession of the law has flourished only in free countries. While it has always been sharply criticized and lawyers have frequently been called parasites on society—or at the best necessary evils—in view of the part they have played in the struggle for constitutional freedom this popular view is not accurate. If that view were true we ought to find those nations where there are few or no lawyers the most peaceful, orderly and prosperous. Just the opposite is true. In a magazine article in 1904 it was stated that China had no lawyers that in Russia the proportion of lawyers to population was one to 31,000 in Germany one to 8,700, in France one to 4,100, in England one to 1,100 and in the United States one to seven hundred.—Case and Comment.

Atmosphere in Tunnel.

Some observations have been recently made on the trains passing under the East river of the barometric changes taking place while passing from one end of the tunnel to the other. The greater the speed the greater and more sudden are the barometric fluctuations, and naturally also the effect upon the ears. In the real car more marked changes were noticed. On two occasions there was a fall of over four-tenths inch mercury within the space of about one second. Such a change would seem to be as slight as to be negligible, but Doctor Fowler, who made the tests, estimates that a pressure of one-half inch mercury is equivalent to one-fourth pound to the square inch.—New York Times.

Hippo Cat Catches Sparrows.

Jenny, the hippo cat, has been waxing fat and lazy this summer on an abundant English sparrow diet. When the hippos moved to their summer quarters from the lion house in the Central park menagerie, Jenny went along with her friends. The stone platform for the hippo inclosure is a great resort for English sparrows because of the grain, crumbs of bread and other food. The cat curls up on the scattered hay or grass and waits until a group of the birds is off guard over the food. Then she springs and always captures one. The hippos like her but do not like the birds.—New York Sun.

Possibilities in Divining Rod.

The phenomena supposed to be exhibited by the divining rod (Vanschlute) has now been seriously tested in German Southwest Africa where something like eight hundred experiments were made with it in search of water, about eighty per cent. of these being successful. It has also been used with success in Hanover to indicate the presence or otherwise of veins of salts of potash in the soil. The minister of agriculture in France has appointed a department committee to make similar experiments.

Hen That Works Overtime.

A Brockton hen is reported, with out corroborative evidence, to have done what would appear to be rather more than her share in reduction of the high cost of living by laying four eggs in ten hours. To make the achievement still more remarkable the narrator affirms that the hen wasn't feeling very well at the time, in fact that she had been taken into the house for her health. The egg producers' union agent ought to look after this effort at overproduction.—Boston Transcript.

Educator Travels Far.

As the invited guest of Chicago university and other institutions, Prof. Caspar Rene Gregory of the University of Leipzig, Germany, traveled nearly 23,000 miles in the United States and Canada during the past year, lecturing before institutions in 26 states of the Union and nine of the Canadian provinces. Professor Gregory is said to be the only American holding a regular professorship in a German university.

The Temperate Man.

James Thorpe, the champion of the Olympic games, is an Indian, and on the Occasion, discussing the welfare of the Indian race, he said: "Total abstinence is essential to my people. The average Indian cannot drink temperately. His idea of temperance is like that of the country gentleman who said: 'I drink brandy only on two occasions—when I have roast chicken for dinner and when I haven't.'"

THE COMMUNITY CLUB

The Community Club of Newton Lower Falls has just completed its second year. The club was founded by Mr. Chauncey Waldron, formerly superintendent of the Hamilton Club for boys. It was he who suggested a club for the girls where they might meet for the purpose of mutual help and recreation. Mrs. Harold Niles was asked to be the Director and she willingly took this opportunity to assist the girls of the community in organizing their club. The first meeting of the girls of the village was called in the Hamilton Hall, the subject thoroughly discussed, and the club formed. Officers were elected, a council chosen, and constitution adopted. The girls unanimously voted to name the club the Community Club, so that each and every girl in the community might share in the benefits derived from being a member.

The object of the club is to bring the girls of the community together in a certain place where they can mingle, become better acquainted, have frequent social gatherings, learn the things taught in the various classes, and where one and all, no matter what the occupation in life may be, can gather together, forget all outside, and enjoy themselves in the companionship of others.

The Club is not for sociability alone, as there is a millinery class, directed by Miss Kent of Dorchester, where practically every member of the club made the hats they are wearing this season; the dressmaking class, in charge of Miss Martha Doonan, and the dancing class, where the younger girls learned much about aesthetic dancing and were able to give much pleasure to the little ones invited at Christmas.

A very successful play was given, composed by the Misses Hyde and C. Evelyn Robbins; a sale of candy and fancy work was held in Early Hall; the dancing party, held a few weeks ago, was the closing event of a very prosperous and successful year.

The Club has fifty loyal members and, although the dues are only ten cents a month, the Club has been entirely self-supporting. Miss Hobart, Secretary of the Federation of Women Workers in Massachusetts, says that the Community Club is the only club to her knowledge in the Federation that has proved that it can meet all club expenses without assistance. The Club closes the year with a substantial amount in the treasury and committees have been appointed to plan next year's program.

A Member.

TO AID CO. C.

At a meeting of the Clifton Guards Veteran Association Wednesday evening at the State Armory, West Newton, the members raised more than $200 to aid the company, and a large committee appointed to raise a further amount. The subject of the city providing a range for the company to take the place of the range now located in Needham, which is in a somewhat dangerous condition was also considered and Mayor Hatfield has the matter under consideration. The committee from the Association appointed last night comprised President Reuben Forknall, Louis R. Speare, Col. Albert C. Warren, Maj. Frederick C. Barnes and Hon. Henry E. Bothfield, and the Citizens' Committee comprises Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, William F. Garcelon, William J. Follett, Harry L. Burrage and James L. Richards. Following the meeting of the Association, a collation was served to the members of the Association and also the members of the company. Remarks were made by Lieut. Philip B. Bruce, commander of Co. C, 5th Reg., President Forknall and Mayor Hatfield. Lieut. Bruce now needs 15 more men to make a full company and every indication points to having that number before the company leaves for camp next month.

SUBURBAN LIFE

Appropriate reading for the hot days is the July issue of Suburban Life—The Country Magazine. Without featuring purely frivolous things the editors have provided some splendid light articles, most of them having to do with the out-of-door and its many attractions at this time. There are also the wonderful illustrative features for which this publication is noted. Besides being very timely, the cover is a triumph of color printing. It shows a mass of luscious red currants natural enough to eat.

Harold I. Howland has a bright little story, "The Conversion of Jim"—a discussion for and against (but mostly for) suburban living. "A Serpent in Eden" is another of Gertrude Goldsmith's unusually clever sketches. "The Shetland Pony and Its Uses" is a plea for the finest kind of a playmate and companion for the little people. For the would-be farmer "Making the Farm Hobby Pay" tells of the real experience of a city business man and his success as an up-to-date farmer. Other leading articles in this attractive number are "Some Modern Methods of Lighting," "The Duty of the Public Toward Its Highways," "The Story of a Homestead," "A House Built with a Camera," "Suburban Development in Stockholm," "The Opportunity of the Rural School," "An Ideal House for the Seashore," "Our American Queens" and another installment of "The Story of an American Farm."

AUBURNDALE UNION SERVICES

During July and August, the Congregational and Methodist Churches will hold union services, as follows:

In the Congregational Church:
July 6 and 13, Rev. Wm. C. Gordon.
July 20, Rev. George S. Butters.
July 27, Rev. James Wylie, of Manchester, England.

August 3, Rev. Nichols Van-der Pyl, of Haverhill, Mass.
In the Methodist Church:
August 10, Rev. Charles H. Beale, D.D., of Milwaukee, Wis.
August 17, 24, and 31, Rev. Geo. S. Butters.

No evening preaching service will be held during these union services.

ALCOHOL CHAT

There is a difference in Alcohol, but now and then there is a great difference, notably in the strength, purity, color, and odor. Some of the commercial Alcohol sold nowadays, upon being diluted to any extent, has a distinct flavor of molasses; another sort has an odor of fuel oil, more or less strong, and as a consequence isn't worth what is charged for it. When you buy Graves' Grain Alcohol from your druggist in sealed bottles you get strength, purity, and lack of odor. Look for the firm name, signature, Chester H. Graves & Sons over the cork on each bottle.

FINDS HEALTH IN BICYCLING

Assistant Secretary of State Adeo Pins Faith to Travel on the "Iron Horse."

Alroy A. Adeo, second assistant secretary of state, whose sunburned face proclaims his devotion to outdoor exercise, startled a number of newspaper men by declaring that he ascribed his good health to "plain iron."

"Mr. Secretary, you certainly look the picture of health," remarked an admiring visitor. "Do you take a tonic?"

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Adeo; "a large amount of plain iron."

"Iron! How can you take that stuff in large quantities without hurting yourself?" questioned the astonished visitor.

"I take it," replied Mr. Adeo, "in the form of a bicycle."

Mr. Adeo still clings to the almost lost pleasure of bicycle riding and spends much of his leisure out in the country. He made an extended bicycle tour in Europe, as he has done for the last twelve years, early in the summer, and attributes his excellent health in a great measure to his riding.—Washington Post.

HONOR MEMORY OF FRANKLIN

University of Pennsylvania Will Erect Heroic Statue of Its Great Founder.

The memory of Benjamin Franklin, founder in 1740 of the University of Pennsylvania, is to be honored by the erection of a bronze statue at a cost of $10,000, on the tenth anniversary of the class of 1904, college, in June, 1914. The statue will be placed in front of the gymnasium on Thirty-third street, near Spruce. The statue will be of heroic proportions, and will represent Franklin as he first appeared in Philadelphia as a runaway printer's apprentice. It has been modeled by Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, professor of physical education, who has modeled several medallions for the university and figures of athletes which have attained celebrity for their life-like postures. The base of the statue has been designed by Prof. Henry Cret of the architectural school.

King George's Naval Library. King George possesses one of the finest collections of naval books and pamphlets that have ever been gotten together. Formerly his library has been kept at York cottage, but it is now being transferred to Windsor, where a specially fitted up room has been provided for it. This collection is not confined to books dealing with the British navy, but embraces the fleets of almost every country in the world and is in a diversity of languages.

There is nothing affecting the sea and its command that escapes his majesty's notice and a leading firm of West End book sellers has a standing order to forward copies of any naval books that may be published wherever the court happens to be situated the moment it makes its appearance. His majesty examines all these most carefully and decides whether they are worthy of being added to his collection or not. The king has a great liking for making marginal notes in such books as he reads, and some of these would prove decidedly interesting if it were possible to inspect them.—The Gentlewoman.

Hail, Beefsteak Tomato. The man who invented the beefsteak tomato is clever. The name was a happy thought. In this time of high prices, when many a family has almost forgotten how beefsteak looks, at least in its sorloin or porterhouse cuts, this comparatively new and wholly substantial tomato is a valuable addition to the sum of human happiness. The name is satisfying. The vegetable itself is still more so. Not every large, smooth tomato is a true beefsteak. The latter is crimson in color, not vermilion—if you have a good eye for shades. The skin of a beefsteak tomato is close fitting, never loose, the seeds are few and the flesh is solid meat. Half a pound of beefsteak tomato is almost as much of a meal as half a pound of flet du boeuf, also as succulent and juicy. Tomatoes are not prohibitive in price at this time, and they are good three times a day. Don't slice them. Give each individual a whole one and receive his blessing.

Often True. Signor Marconi, in an interview in Washington, praised American democracy. "Over here," he said, "you respect a man for what he is himself—not for what his family is—and thus you remind me of the gardener in Bologna who helped me with my first wireless apparatus. "As my grandmother's gardener and I were working on my apparatus together a young count joined us one day, and while he watched us work the count boasted of his lineage. "The gardener, after listening a long while, smiled and said: "If you come from an ancient family, it's so much worse for you, sir; for, as we gardeners say, the older the seed, the worse the crop."

Too Cautious. "There goes Billings. He never does anything on a bet or a dare." "A conservative person." "Yes. In fact, he's so conservative that he never does anything on time."

MR. GORHAM BURIED

The First Unitarian Church, West Newton, was thronged Saturday afternoon at the last rites for Mr. Robert Stetson Gorham, for many years a member of the School Committee, who died Wednesday night at his home in Cambridge.

Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the church, officiated, and representatives were present from the Lawyers' Club, South End Association, Brae-Burn Club, Neighborhood Club of West Newton, Exchange Club of Boston and several past and present members of the School Committee.

The hymns sung by the congregation were "Nearer, My God, to Thee," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Jerusalem the Golden." Many beautiful floral tributes were received. The remains were taken to Duxbury, where services were held in the Unitarian Cemetery, with Rev. Andrew Hahn, pastor of the First Parish Church officiating.

N. H. S.

Dr. Alfred D. Browne, who since 1908 has been in charge of the physical department for boys at the Newton High Schools, has tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately. Dr. Browne has accepted a full professorship of physical education and hygiene and the medical directorship of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. He will assume his new position when the university reopens in September. He is looking for his successor in the work at the local schools.

Of nine Newton High School athletes who graduated this month only five have decided to enter college next fall. Four will go to Harvard and one to Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. Richard Roquemore, Eben Ellison, Robert Bancroft and Ray Stanley have elected Harvard, and while Joseph Gardner will enroll at Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, Charles Wilbur, Louis Forte, Robert Spaulding and Archie Wellman will not go to college.

Ray Stanley is a two-letter athlete, having won honors on the track and hockey teams.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

During the months of July and August, the Library and its Branches will close at eight o'clock every evening except Saturday. On Saturday they will close at the usual hour. The Branch Libraries will be closed on Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

During the month of May the Young People's Room of the Newton Library was the scene of the most instructive, interesting and exciting guessing contest. The contestants were given a list of forty characters from juvenile fiction with the task of naming the author and the book in which each character appears. At the close of the contest a question was asked concerning one book on the list, making some knowledge of each book necessary for all who tried for the prize. There was absolutely no aid given and the amount of concentrated thought and systematic labor put into the contest was well worthy of adults. The idea of the contest was to make the children more observant and more careful readers, to strengthen their memories, and to bring a greater variety of books to their attention. It was interesting to observe that while fewer girls entered the contest than boys, fewer boys kept on until the finish. Solid bronze medals with the inscription "Newton Library Guessing Contest" were awarded to the winners. Leverett Gleason passed in the best list with thirty-seven names correct and received first of the boys. Nora Gullian received first of the girls with thirty-three names correct. Honorable mentions went to Fred Boucher and Marjorie Smith.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The Sunday evening concerts are well received, the management having secured some really fine new motion pictures for this special feature. If you desire to give your dear ones a treat, take them to dine in the trellis hung cafe where the cuisine and service are excellent and then give them a ride on the new merry-go-round. Last Sunday was one of the gala days on the Charles—thousands of canoes darting here and there making a picture not surpassed by any watering resort in America. The service and livery at Norumbega's bathhouses are the finest in the world.

The Zoological Gardens are the center of enthusiastic admirers, the baby inmates especially attracting attention.

the roads to raise money, under part two of the bill. Again this year, seeing that the mandatory principle, as endorsed by the Republican State Committee, was bound to become a law, they sought for this desired financial law. A duly authorized representative of the lobby, in the earlier part of the session, called upon me, and told me that if the financial sections remained in the bill they would leave no stone unturned to secure its passage, but if, on the other hand, they were repudiated from the bill, they would leave no stone unturned to defeat the bill. Not being, as some would say, of a practical turn of mind, this attitude somewhat grated upon my sensibilities, and I was somewhat attracted to the other course, of trying to see if the Massachusetts legislature could pass a bill of any sort without the co-operation of the railroads, which was one of the arguments which I used in my fight against these sections. Further than this, these questionable sections had their initiative and were drawn, outside of the Legislature, outside of the office of the Railroad Commissioners, and in the office of a railroad attorney. There is no question about it but that the spontaneous opinion of the savings banks was against the financial sections, so-called. There is no doubt whatever but what the Savings Bank Commissioner was opposed to them, and Mr. Ellis ought to remember, in quoting Mr. James F. Jackson, that he is a somewhat questionable authority upon this question as he is counsel for the Bay State St. Ry. While the bill was, in my opinion, unjustifiably held up in the Committee on Ways and Means, Mr. Robbins, the general counsel of the road, came to Boston and entered into the campaign, and while the credit for drawing the sections belongs to Mr. Bentley W. Warren, the credit for having smothered a greater outside banking opposition belongs to Mr. Robbins, who worked arduously upon the leading Boston bankers so that their opposition to the bill lacked organization, but the Senate committee on Ways and Means, particularly, was deluged with letters from other parts of the state in opposition to this part of the bill. These banks felt, that, with the debenture securities of the road today rapidly falling on their hands, they did not care to see their values still further decreased by enabling the roads to issue more, and the New Haven financial market being as dead as it is today, they could see no crisis for passing this legislation, as no one at present, any way, is in the market for railroad securities of any sort.

Politically, the Republican party made a great mistake in not passing a plain, straight mandatory bill. Public sentiment ought to be respected, and a course of action which induces you to ask Mr. Ellis for an explanation has its drawbacks.

(Mr. Washburn implies that my request for an explanation from Mr. Ellis, was in the nature of a defence of his action on this bill. Nothing was further from my intention. I believed my readers would like an explanation of the new law, and asked Mr. Ellis, as an authority on the matter, to make the statement published last week.—Ed.)

Had passed the bill, its mandatory form, been passed, the party could have gone to the people and said, "We have passed a bill to control the railroads. This they cannot do today because the roads have worked harder than anyone else to secure the passage of a bill to control themselves."

These are some of the considerations which passed through my mind as I read the exhuming of this matter by your representative, whom I regard to be as honest and able a man as there is in the General Court, and I have yet to believe that I cannot differ with him even more strenuously than he has differed with me and not have it affect our personal relations so far as I am concerned.

You can make any use of this letter you desire.

Yours sincerely,
R. M. WASHBURN.

NEWTON MAN NAMED

Mr. George W. Bishop, who was named this week by Governor Foss to be a member of the newly created Public Service Commission, has been a resident of Newtonville for the past eighteen years. He was born in West Burke, Vt., in 1849, and educated at St. John's Academy. For twenty-seven years Mr. Bishop was engaged in the railroad business, and for twenty-two years of that time was roadmaster of the Fitchburg Railroad. In 1886 he was appointed a member of the Mass. Railroad Commission and served continuously since that time as a member of that commission. Mr. Bishop stands high in the Masonic orders of the state.

His present appointment is for one year.

FAMOUS WOMEN WORKERS

It has been proved in the pages of biography that all women whom the world honors have been great workers; sometimes of necessity, sometimes because of the love of working for the good of others, or perhaps to develop some special talent.

It is only by the most indefatigable work that the greatest authors, musicians, artists and scientists have been able to present their achievements to the world.

We read of the great artist, Rosa Bonheur, who worked steadily for eighteen months upon her masterpiece, the Horse Fair. Julia Ward Howe worked as a lecturer and writer until her death at a very advanced age. Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross Society was never said to be idle.

Many wealthy women who might, if they desired, spend their life in idleness, fill all their days working for the good of others.

And thus all girls who work may feel themselves members of a very noble army when they go forth to their daily work.

And the place to train young girls for this noble army, and show them how to be successful in their life work is the Franklin Academy, 136 Boylston street, Boston.

CORSETS

Give the Suppleness of the Uncorsetted Figure

Only by the use of flexible braiding can a corset give that easy naturalness to the figure which is now demanded by the most fashionable. Because of its perfectly flexible braiding, the Spirella Corset is ideally adapted to meet this need. All its lines are long and soft, though adhering closely to the figure. Spirella braids yards easily in every direction, allowing uncorseted comfort under all conditions. Yet it will not take a permanent brand nor lose its original shape.

READ FUND PICNIC

The Read Fund Picnic, held last Tuesday at Norumbega Park, was one of the largest in the history of the Read Fund, over one thousand children being present. Ten large street railway cars were crowded with the children and a few of their elders, and left Norumbega square about 9:30, in charge of a squad of blue coats in command of Sergeant Kite. At Norumbega Park, the merry go round, engaged exclusively for the children for two hours, was thronged all the time, and was immensely popular, the new machine just installed by Manager Albert being the latest thing in merry go rounds. Swings, box ball and visits to the Zoo filled in the time until lunch was served at twelve o'clock. The lunch took two hours to serve, with the tables on the veranda being filled four times.

The cars were filled again immediately after the theatre and the return trip was made to Norumbega square without an accident during the entire day.

The picnic, which was made possible thru the gift of the late Charles Read, who died in 1883, is duplicated in the city of Salem, to which Mr. Read gave a similar legacy as that in Newton.

Mr. William Macpherson was in charge, assisted by Alderman Reuben Forknall.

EDITORIAL

I do not believe there will be a large attendance next Monday evening at the hearing required by law, before the aldermen establish the tax limit.
For many years Newton has been well within the former statutory limit of $12.00 per thousand, which means that for current city expenses, the city government cannot exceed the limit of $12.00 per $1000 valuation. While other cities have usually had a hard time to keep within this limit, Newton has usually appropriated somewhere in the vicinity of $10 or $11 per $1000.
So that it would be perfectly safe to establish the new limit at the former

Now that the various parts of the city have entered upon a fairly well defined policy of celebrating the Fourth of July with sports, band concerts and fireworks, it is well to suggest to the average citizen that these things cost a lot of money and if the new form of celebrating appeals to you, why not show your interest by sending a contribution, small or large, to those who are making the plans.

STOPS WORK ON POISON IVY

Commissioner Charles I. Bucknam of the Forestry Department has been forced for the present to stop all work destroying poison ivy because of the fact that nearly all his employees in this work have either been poisoned by the ivy or did not want to take the risk of getting the rash. His regular crew quit work more than a week ago, nearly all suffering from the poison,
and the men whom he got by advertising, who were supposed not to be bothered by the poison, quit yesterday after nearly all had become victims of it. Last year the ivy was burnt, but the year being so dry, Mr. Bucknam did not want to use this plan again, afraid that a fire might start, and instead put his men pulling up the ivy by the roots. In all 30 places have been destroyed, while there are a number of places on Warren street and Langley road, Newton Centre, and parts of Auburndale, where the ivy has not been touched. The dangerous part, near the brook in front of the Technical High School, was the first place exterminated by Mr. Bucknam.

OBITUARY

Abigail Frances Eaton, widow of Edward Boylston Eaton, and daughter of the late Darius and Abigail Young, died suddenly on Saturday morning,
June 21st at her home on Lake avenue,
Newton Centre.

Mrs. Eaton was a resident of Newton Centre for many years and thereout a long life of quiet service. Her strength and brightness have been a constant blessing to all about her. Her ready interest in all and numerous benefactions to those in need have brought happiness into many lives.
Her kindness of heart extended to the dumb animals who were her friends and recipients of her bounty.
She was usually fond of flowers and spent much time in her garden. Mrs.
Eaton was always cheerful, and young in spirit, and will be sadly missed by all who knew her as a neighbor, friend or benefactor.

FOOD OF EUROPEAN PEASANTS

Many Are the Substitutes for Bread Eaten by Poorer Classes of Europe.

In various parts of the world the poorer classes consume little or no bread, the London Globe observes. Baked loaves of bread are practically unknown in portions of southern Australia and Italy and throughout the agricultural districts of Roumania. Austrians aver that in the village of Obersteiermark, not very far from Vienna, bread is never seen. The staple food is stierz, a kind of porridge made from ground beechnuts, taken at breakfast with fresh or curdled milk, at dinner with broth or fried lard and at supper with milk. This dish is also called heiden and is substituted for bread not only in the Austrian district mentioned but in Carinthia and other parts of the Tyrol.

Northern Italy offers a substitute for bread in the form of polenta, which is a kind of porridge made of boiled grain. Polenta is not, however, allowed to granulate like Scotch porridge or the Austrian stierz. It is instead boiled into a solid pudding, which is cut up and portioned out with a string. It is eaten cold as often as it is hot and is in every sense an Italian's daily bread.

There is a variation of polenta called mamaliga, the favorite food of the poorer classes in Roumania. Mamaliga resembles polenta inasmuch as it is made of boiled grain, but it is unlike the former in one respect—the grains are not permitted to settle into a solid mass, but are kept distinct after the fashion of oatmeal porridge.

LEARNED CHIVALRY IN WILDS

Men of the Frontier Spontaneous in Their Tribute to Woman Met in Casual Fashion.

James Oliver Curwood, author of "The Flower of the North," tells the following story about the men to be found in the country about Hudson Bay, where the scene of his story is laid:

"I was at Prince Albert," he says, "sitting on the veranda of the little old Windsor hotel, facing the Saskatchewan. During the few days previous a number of factors, trappers and half-breed canoe men had come down from the north. One of these men had not been down to the edge of civilization for seven years. Three of the others had not been down in two, and this was the annual trip of the other eight—for there were just eighteen of us sitting there together."

"We were smoking and talking when a young woman turned up the narrow walk leading to the veranda. Immediately every voice was hushed, and as the woman came up the steps those twelve roughly clad men of the wilderness rose to their feet to a man, each holding his cap in his hand. Thus they stood, silent and with bowed heads, until the young woman had passed into the hotel. It was the most beautiful tribute to womanhood I had ever seen. And I, the man from civilization, was the only one who remained sitting, with my hat still on my head."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Seven Daughters Enough.

Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame college, tells of a priest who was giving a lecture on the evil of great wealth. In the audience was a man the priest knew. The man was the father of seven girls, and the lecturer pointed to this man as an example.

"Think," said the priest, "of being the proud father of seven daughters. Think who is happier—the man with a million dollars or the man who is the father of seven daughters."

"I will ask you, Mr. Sheldon, who do you think is the happier?" said the priest, pointing to the subject of his argument.

The man arose and said: "Father, I think that a man with seven daughters is the happier. A man with a million dollars worries for more. A man with seven daughters never does."—Kansas City Star.

St. Petersburg's Flower Show.

There is to be an international horticultural exhibition at St. Petersburg next spring, under the patronage of the emperor of Russia. The United States secretary of agriculture announces that requests for registration should be addressed to the executive committee, care of the Bureau of the Imperial Society of Horticulture, Quai de la Cour, 32, St. Petersburg, not later than January 1, 1913. The exposition will comprise the following sections: Floriculture; decorative horticulture; (A) greenhouse, (B) outdoor; pomology; fresh fruits and those kept naturally during the winter; vegetables and market garden plants; preservation and use of fruits and vegetables; grains; apiculture; agriculture; house plants; scientific section; school section; tools, instruments and apparatus; floral art; commercial section.

Ohio's Onion Crop.

An estimate has been made of the probable crop of onions on Scioto marsh. The yield is placed at 1,100,000 bushels, valued at more than half a million dollars. The land was valueless ten years ago.—Findlay Correspondence Pittsburg Dispatch.

Ungrateful.

"Have pity on an unfortunate man who can't get work."

"Good heavens! Are you complaining that you have no work in this awful heat?"—Sourire.

To Renovate Old Furniture.

Collectors of old furniture who want to renovate it themselves are at a loss to know what steps to take. An old and dingy-looking walnut table has been acquired perhaps. What is to be done with it? First of all, make a good strong solution of soap powder and boiling water, and with a scrubbing brush wash the table. When the wood has been well rinsed with clear water let it dry, and then wash it all over again, this time with a decoction, hot as it can be borne, of bran water, which beautifully softens the wood. Now sandpaper it, first with a soft duster, steeped in one part boiled linseed oil and one part vinegar. Rub it again with a dry duster, and finish it off with chamois leather. Rub the piece of furniture a little with chamois leather every day, and the natural grain will show up beautifully. If you like a dull finish use only one hand for rubbing the wood.

Literary Blunders.

Some of the literary blunders quoted by the Journal des Debats are quite delightful. Thus Balzac in his "Cousin Pons" refers to a fan, the "divine masterpiece ordered from Watteau for Mme. de Pompadour," who was only born in the year of the painter's death. He also describes a "midnight mass" celebrated in the evening. Alphonse Daudet is no less careless, his outstanding lapse being perhaps in "Tartarin," wherein he presents the astonished reader with "four thousand Arabs, laughing like madmen, and displaying six hundred thousand white teeth in the sunshine." Champfleury in his "Amoureux de Saint-Pierre" describes a phenomenon unknown to scientists in the shape of a "poisoned electric wire," while Octave Feuillet in "Sybille" gravely recorded the existence of "two twins, both aged eighteen."

Cremation in England.

According to a report by the city medical officer (Dr. Collingridge), the total number of cremations in the United Kingdom last year was 1,023 being the highest on record. Of these 114 were at Woking, 125 at Manchester, 38 at Glasgow, 30 at Liverpool, 25 at Hull, 12 at Darlington, 13 at Leicester, 642 at Golders Green, 44 at Birmingham, 17 at Leeds, 20 at Ilford, 10 at Sheffield and 13 at Bradford. The first cremations took place in 1885, when there were three altogether. Since then the number has gone on rapidly increasing. In 1909 there were 855; in 1910, 840, and last year, 1,023. Since cremation first received legal recognition in this country (1884), 9,983 cremations have taken place.—London Standard.

Told of Father Taylor.

A friend sends us another anecdote of Father Taylor, which will bear repetition. At the dedication of a new church at Quincy, when all the ministers of the neighborhood were assisting, Father Taylor during his sermon exhorted the Unitarian minister "Brother, preach the depravity of man," the Universalist, "Preach of future judgment," the Episcopal "Keep your pulpit door open," the Calvinist, "Preach that man is a free agent," and the Baptist, "Don't make dipping all your gospel!" The eccentric orator won all hearts, as usual by his kindly plain speaking.—The Outlook.

History Repeating Itself.

The recent report that Captain Smith of the ill-fated Titanic had been seen alive and recognized on the streets of Baltimore by a fellow mariner, calls to mind a similar story of Fletcher Christian, the leader in the famous mutiny of the Bounty. Christian, years after he was supposed to have perished on Pitcairn island, was, it is asserted, seen and recognized in London by one of the officers of the Bounty. History—or more probably in these cases, hallucination—repeats itself.

Little Misunderstood.

One morning Miss Lillian De Vincent, leading lady of "When a Man's Married," No. 2 road company, concluded she would press some collars. "Bring me a hot iron," she told the hallboy, who answered the bell. In a few moments he returned empty-handed. "I can't get it for you, lady," the hallboy says as how there's lots of them fancy New York dinks no ain't never learned how to mix."

These Good Losers.

"Bald Jack Rose," said a central of vice man, "has developed during his imprisonment a vein of philosophy. Rose and I were discussing a gambler the other day. We analyzed his character pro and con. I was rather for him, Rose against. 'Well, at least,' said, 'you must admit he's a good loser.' 'Yes, he's a good loser,' Rose agreed; 'he don't care what his wife has to go without.'"

Oil Displacing Coal.

The crude oil engine is now looming up as a rival of steam propulsion for the larger Great Lakes boats. Experiments have shown that it is as dependable as steam, takes up considerably less space and is much cheaper once the initial cost of installation has been met.

Under Both Heads.

Senator Lodge, condemning a certain type of self-important politician, said the other day: "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and the majority firmly believe that they come under both these heads."

SONGAN L. C. ATHLETIC MEET

The boys' club of the Newton Free Library, known as the Songan L. C., held its initial track meet on the Y. M. C. A. field Saturday morning, June 14th, 1913. There were forty competitors, and they being in the best of condition and with the weather perfect, combined to make the meet a pronounced success. Charles Wankler, the Bigelow School athlete, captured first place with a total of 25 points, taking firsts in the 100 yards, 440 yards, broad jump and shot put, and seconds in the high jump and 50 yards.

L. S. Gleason was second with seventeen points, taking two firsts—the mile and high jump, seconds in the 440 yards and shot put, and third in the broad jump. The mile was the prettiest race of the day, the winner covering the whole distance in an easy even pace, showing endurance and practice.

William Barber was third with 7 points. The pole vault was Barber's specialty, but he also captured third in the 100 yards and 50 yards dashes.

Last Friday evening a class of 116 at the Newton Technical High School, an increase of 20 over last year, received diplomas at the graduation exercises in the school hall.

A feature of the program was the awarding of the Howard prizes for the best essay on "My High School Course; What It Has Accomplished and What It Might Have Accomplished," by Chairman William H. Rice of the School Committee.

The first prize, $25, was awarded Chas. D. Kopner, Jr., of Newtonville, now a student at Williams College, and the second prize of $15 was awarded Miss Priscilla Fowle, student at Vassar and a resident of Auburndale. Both were members of the class of '12 of the Classical High School.

The exercises opened with a selection by the High School Orchestra, followed by prayer by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of the First Unitarian Church, West Newton. Alfred M. Gels presented the class gift, a statue of Abraham Lincoln, in memory of Capt. S. Edward Howard, for years chairman of the School Committee.

Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, delivered the address, and Mayor Charles E. Hatfield presented diplomas to the following:

LARGE MAP OF GETTYSBURG

United States Geological Survey will Sell, Until July 4, Topographic Map of Famous Battlefield and Vicinity at Half Price.

To meet the demand for an accurate map of Gettysburg and vicinity during the great memorial celebration which will be held at that historic point beginning June 26—50 years after the commencement of the terrific fight which sealed the fate of the hitherto sanguine Confederacy—the United States Geological Survey has combined four of its topographic sheets and printed a large map. The map covers about 925 square miles, including the Gettysburg battlefield and the adjacent portion of Pennsylvania as well as the adjoining portion of Maryland, and is on the ample scale of 1 mile to the inch. It shows accurately the size and shapes of the mountains and ridges, and by means of contour or elevation lines the exact altitudes of every hill, slope, valley, and pass. All the roads by which Lee brought his main army in from the West are shown, and the course pursued by the Army of the Potomac under Hooker and later under Meade can be readily traced. Such familiar bloody fighting grounds as Little Round Top, the Wheatfield, and the Peach Orchard are shown in their exact topography almost as clearly as in a bird's-eye photograph, as is also the ground over which Pickett's division of 18,000 men the flower of the South, made its famous but futile charge—a charge, however, which accomplished its probable purpose of deterring Meade from following up his victory with a pursuit of Lee's shattered columns.

Such a map would be worth a thousand times its weight in diamonds to either of the commanding generals at the battle of Gettysburg, where the fate of their great armies and probably of the Union and the Confederacy hung on the issue of a day. The surveys on which the map is based were made in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State Topographic and Geologic Survey Commission and the Geological Survey of Maryland. This map can be obtained from the United States Geological Survey. The regular price is 40 cents a copy, but by special authority granted by the Secretary of the Interior it will be delivered postage free in a mailing tube until July 4, 1913, at 20 cents a copy. Remittances should be made to the Director, United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., in cash or money order.
